SHRI SHARADA MAHATMYAM

The old MSS of Shri Shārda Mahatmyam begins with the following Shloka:

ॐ श्री गणेशाय नमः। ॐ श्री सनतकुमाराय नमः। ॐ पुरा कृतयुगे विप्र शाण्डिल्यो नाम तपसः हिमालयं महाशैलरम्ये मधुमती तटे सिद्ध-गन्धर्वैः सेवितैः कृतवन्तपः।

"Aum Shri Ganeshaya Namah. Aum Shri Sanat Kumaraya Namah. Aum Pūra Krityugei Vipra Shānedalyō Nāmā Tāpsahā Himalayam Mahashaila-ramei Madhumati Tatei Siddha Gandarvai Savityah Kritvan Tapaha."

English Rendering:-

"Aum, Obeisance to Shri Ganesha. Obeisance to the Sanat Kumaras--the first Rishis. Aum! A Brahmin named Shandilya engaged himself in Tapasya (Meditating and observing strict austerities) in the ancient times of Krityuga at the Mahashaila (Harmūkha base) of the Himalayan range of mountains. The place was the bank of the beautiful Madhumati river, where he was served by the local inhabitants who happened to be Siddhas and Gandharvas."

The Sharada Mahatmyam is concluded with the following narration:-

"Iti Ādi Pūranē Kashmir Tirtha Mahātāmei Sangraha Sharada Mahatmyam Sampurnamastu."

English Rendering:-

Thus the Sharada Mahatmyam is a format of the collection referring to the sanctity of the pilgrimage spots of Kashmir in the "Adi Purana", which reaches to its conclusive end."

The first Shloka refers to "Madhumati" river bank and not to the Confluence of the three Holy Rivers, where the Sharada shrine is situated on the peak of "Shardi Hill." Above mentioned Madhumati river is the river that comes from a different source of the 'Harmukh' mountain range and passes through the 'Sundervan' area in the north of the Bandipur town at Kalusa village and finally merges in the Wullar lake-the largest sweet water lake, through which passes the river Vitasta (Jehlum)- coming from South Kashmir and goes through this vast lake and emerges out at Sopore town and flows forward to the Punjab. This river forms confluence with the other river "Madhumati" as well as "Krishna Ganga" at the base of the "Shardi Hill", where the world famous Sharada Peeth is situated and sanctifies the Shardi village and its adjacent area. Those devotees who have reverence for the pilgrimage of the Sharada Hill top would say दिवि माती दे मा शारदा - "DIVI MATI DE MĀ SHARADA" - "O Mother Sharada! Pray grant us Divinity and sharp intellect!"

Referring to the Kalusa village, which is situated at the left side of the Bandipur-Sopore road via Nath Pura and Vatlab-the wall hillock at the north-eastern side of the Wullar Lake, to which Kalhan Pandit in his magnum opus-"Raja tarangini" calls "Sadura", the 'Tadbhava' word for the Sanskrit term "Samudra" meaning— the sea. This village, known as Kalusa is on the bank of the Madhumati river, and a branch of the river flows through the 'Sharadabal Shrine' premises. This rivulet bears the name "Dudha kohl" or the milk stream.

Across the bridge on the Madhumati River which connects the road of Bandipur-Sopore, if we pass a hundred yards further toward Kalūsa, there is a link road in the right side which leads to Gurez, the area of the 'Darads'. This link road is now a famous road that leads to Gurez via Razdan pass.

Kalhan Pandit in his chronicle of the Rajatarangini gives a detailed narrative of the war between 'Dards' and Harshdeva, the king of Kashmir, under the Chief command of 'Malla', at this spot, across the river Madhumati. The army of Harshadeva was defeated; the Commander 'Malla' lost his stature, and was ridiculed. The whole army was destroyed on the return journey due to heavy snowfall and severe winter cold. The king Harsha reached back to Srinagar after great suffering, struggling between life and death. King Harshdeva was later defeated and killed by the sons of 'Malla-Sushalla and Ucchalla', who ruled over Kashmir in rotation.

The vicinity as described in the 'Sharada Mahatmyam' where the Rishi Shandilya practised austerity and Yoga-meditation must have been a very thick forest range during that period of time. Only seventy or eighty years ago, the 'Sunder-van' was a forest extended to the place where there is the bridge mentioned already. There is the evidence of a thick forest range where forest animals- 'Hangul', leopard etc. and other fauna were seen by the inhabitants to come to the 'Madhumati' river for taking water and for allied purposes.

The topography of the area gives the name of 'Vangam' meaning the forest village; and in the mountain range to the east of Wular lake are Sudrakot, Andrakot, Bonakot and across these 'Tullamulla' Tulmullya (as mentioned in the Rajatarangini) is situated. This confirms the statement in the Mahatmyam that the Rishi Shandilya was served by the Siddhas and Gandaharvas.

The concluding Shloka of the Mahatmyam clearly says that the Mahatmyam forms the part of the 'Adi Purana', which is known as the Devi Bhāgwat Mahapurana, written by the Rishi, 'Krishna Dvaipāyana' Vyasa, popularly revered as the "Veda Vyasa", himself as such it is called the Adi-Purana. The Bhagwat was written by the Veda Vyasa's son 'Shukadeva' and other Pūranas were written by Shri Vyasa's disciples known as 'Sūtas'. The Mahabharata epic written by Vyasa says that Adhiratha, the royal charioteer in the services of the Kauravas was the disciple of the Veda Vyasa, whom Vyasa took away for his services from the Kauravas and a substitute charioteer named 'Sanjaya' was given to the Kauravas. Sūta is the Sanskrit term for a Charioteer. The Adhirath Sūta and his descendants wrote 'Itihasas'. The Adi Purana as it is called the 'Devi Bhagvatam' is a Maha Purana. It is an 'Itihasa' of 18000 Shlokas divided into 12 'Skandas' of a tolal of 318 chapters, formally written by the Veda Vyasa himself. It contains the Itihasa of Shri Rama, Shri Krishna, Shri Hayagriva, king Shantanu and all others who basically belonged to the Vaishnava cult, but were devotees of the 'Devi Shri Shakti', worshipped as the Divine 'power' in the Mother form of Divinity. While Shri Yyasa's son Shri Shukadeva wrote Vishnu Bhagwat Mahapurana and Shri Markandeya wrote Brahma Purana-all about the Divine Mother, whereof Shri Dugra Saptshati forms grand description of Mother Durga in 700 shlokas. It contains a very important Mantra-Upasana' and the secret of involution of the Avyakta-Akshara in the form of Shaktis and the creation of the universe and life on the earth planet, known as the Jagat. Besides these three Puranas, other fifteen Puranas were written directly by the Sutas.

The Sharada Mahatmyam, forming a part of the Tirth Mahatmyams of Kashmir, in the Devi Bhagwat Mahapurana, written directly by Veda Vyasa himself, sounds therefore authentic.

ABSTRACT OF THE SHARADA MAHATMYAM

Vipra-Shāndilya, a sage of great learning observed austerities of a very high order rising ever in his 'Tapasya', concentrated, contemplated and meditated, completely stopping the ideation of his mind, so much so, that he was unaware of his needs of food and drink. Having attained complete control of his senses, body-limbs and inner systems, he was at peace within himself. He gained complete control over his breath as a perfect Yogi, that he lived on the energy derived from the air, 'Prana and Apana' and did not need material food for his body sustenance.

After attaining the 'Ashtanga'-the eight fold Yoga process as also the 'Karmaphala tyaga'—the activity of desirelessness, he initiated the performance of Havana Yajna, the fire offerings to the Devas-the celestial ones, so that the Divine forces get satisfied and be pleased in giving back proper sustenance to the earth and the earth dewellers. It was his 'Nishkama Seva', as prescribed in the Bhagwadgita, known as selfless service to the world.

For this kind of fire offerings, he invited hundred of 'Hotars' and the meritorious Purohits to recite the Vedas and perform the Yajna-offerings according to the Agamic order of Kashmir. The materials required for these offerings as well as the food materials for serving 'Naivedya-Prasada' among all, who assembled and participated, was having its source in the Sharada area. All were invited—the village folk of the area, women, children and men as per usual practice to be part of the 'Havana'.

While the 'Mahayajna' was in full performance stage, a very beautiful woman appeared at the place in the form of a recluse and approached 'Vipra Shandilya'. Approaching him the woman said: "I am a 'Tapasvini Brahmini'. Since you have invited all, so I have come here along with my companion 'Garuda' from a distant place. We are both travel torn. I feel pangs of hunger, so is my companion here. Give us food to eat at once"

Vipra Shandilya stood up with courtesy of welcome gesture, folded his hands and bowed before the woman and said in reply: "You are most welcome, but as you must be aware of the procedure of this performance of Yajna that nothing should be eaten from the prepared food before the Yajna is completed with the 'Poornā-Ahuti', concluding offerings. After the offerings are over, the Yajamāns and the Hotārs should eat first to make the edibles sanctified. Then all the invitees—men, women and children will be offered the 'Havisha-annam'/food and drink and then you too would partake the food with them. Please wait till that time, as this Yajna will not take long time to reach to its conclusion, following the injunctions of the procedure, as prescribed in the Vedas".

Hearing this reply of Shandilya, the Tapasvini woman became angry—rather furious.

Hearing Shandilya's version, the Tapasvini, got angry and questioned his point of view. She said: "Am I not prayed and worshipped by these loud Veda Vākyas in this Mahayajnya? Don't you know that the Parmatma is the essence of the "Vedic Vak" and Atma is the "Vak". The Lord in the Sound form and the world is the form of the Word. Atma and Parmatma are in the Word and of the Word. Did not these Bhramins invoke my presence to make offerings to me that I move with; and I am the Eleven Rudras, eight Vasus, the twelve Suns and all the Devās of the universe, who derive their power from me?" So saying, she changed her form into the form of 'Neela-Saraswati' with all her armaments and having form of clouds like blue lotus and consuming everything and continued declaring "I absorb all the humans, the vegetations and the forests, the trees and all ingredients of the 'Yajna'". Hearing all this, and visualizing Her presence, Shandilya was horrified. He fell down on the earth with remorse and fear and died.

At that time the old Tapasvini, whose hunger was satiated, was roaring with laughter. Seeing Shandilya fallen dead with horror and remorse, she said to her companion these mystic words: "O good one! Bring back this Brahmin to life by some drops of the Amrita-the elixir of life". Hearing this, the Companion of the Divine Mother 'Vak' took pity on Shandilya and revived him to life along with his earned Yogic powers. Coming back to life Vipra Shandilya sought her in understanding the Vak, which is Shakti in Itself. Seeing the devastation of the place, the people, the Yajna as well as of the performers as everything was consumed, as if, by the hell-fire. He was again filled with sorrow and anguish, thinking that he was responsible for the death and destruction. He was filled with remorse. Knowing his mind and mental anguish the Tapasvini's form changed into a very beautiful and graceful form—Rūpa of Saraswati and raising her hand in the 'Abhaya Mudra', said to Shandilya, "O Son! I am pleased with your दयाभाव 'Dayābhava' which is compassion within! Ask whatever you wish and I shall grant it." Since Shandilya was filled with pangs of pain, he folded his palms raised them to his head begging mercy, he said, "If Thou art really merciful to me, I pray to revive the dead and restore this place along with people, animals, vegetation and forest- O Divine Mother!"

Said the Saraswati Devi, "My son, look yonder towards the north west, where the river Vitasta flows and is joined by the river Madhumati at the base of the hillock there. Build your Ashrama and place for Tapasya. I shall see you there. My Companion, who is with me here, will rise as 'Ganga' in the Harmukh Lake and flow down to make confluence with Madhumati and Vitasta rivers. Invoke me and my presence at the peak of the hill and I shall fulfil your yearning desire!"

Thus Shri Sharada took Her abode there, gracing the hill top as mentioned in the Mahatmyam on the भाद्र मासस्य शुक्लपक्षस्य अष्टम्यां—8th lunar day of the month of Bhadarpada and fulfilled the yearning desire of Shandilya. She bestowed upon him the blessings as desired by the Vipra Shandilya for his spiritual awakening, as he wished Her presence there for the good of the world. This is really the very example of आत्मनो मोक्षार्थं जगत् हिताय च 'Atmano-mokshartham, Jagat hitaya Cha."

The 8th lunar day of Bhadarpada is called Sharada Ashtami or शारद्य आठम in the Kashmiri Pandit heritage which comes every third year according to the moon-travel in the same constellation as it was when Shri Sharada appeared at the peak of the hill then called Shri Shaila and presently named Shardi Hill. The other Bhadarpada Ashtami repeated annually for the other two years is called Ganga Ashtami as it is recorded in the Mahatmyam that Krishna Ganga rose from the Harmukh Lake and flowed down and made Confluence with the Madhumati and Vitasta rivers on this Very day.

It is the grace and blessing that whosoever takes a dip at the confluence of the rivers Vitasta Madhumati and Ganga (Krishna Ganga) on this auspicious day and offer water oblations (Tarpana) to the Devās—the celestials and 'Pitrin'-the deceased forefathers of the clan, kiths and kins, Gurus etc., surely get the fruit thereof a thousand fold. Further, it was commanded that the पिण्डदान 'Pinda Dan' and अस्थि विसर्जन—immersion of the ashes of the dead should be performed at the sacred कुण्ड pond which appeared at the bank of Harmukh lake, the source of Harmukh Ganga then called Saraswati—a tributary to the Krishna Ganga.

It implies the study of constellations through the motion of the moon. The ancient Rishis used this method for astronomical studies and for invoking the Devatas on the sacred Tithi and their influence on the earth and life as described in the Veda Samhita of Rishi Parāshara. In Yoga, it means संयम Sanyama – concentration at the point of the location of vagus nerve, which gives to the Yogi the knowledge of the sound impulses that control the respiratory and blood circulation system of the body. Yoga practice helps a Yogi to be in tune with the cosmic consciousness.

Sharada Mahatmyam further states that, after the 'Sharada-Peetha' was established and Vipra Shandilya's yearning for Mekhala-Yajneopavit Sanskara completed and concluded, the कारण त्रय Karan Traya – Shri Brahma, Shri Vishnu and Shri Mahesha in the form of 'ISHANA' visited that sacred spot and offered 'Panchopchāra Puja' with the Vedic Suktas and Mantras, including प्रार्थना–Prayers, followed by Indra and other Lokapals-the guardian deities along with 'Marudganas, Nagas, Vidyadhars, Yakshas, Guhukās' etc., and all these performed the Puja at that sacred spot. Then came Rishis and Munis like—Kapila, Atri, Vasishtha, Kashyapa, Gautama, Lomasha, Shasteika Deva Sharma, Upamanyu, Dhyma Galava and others. These all invoked the grace of the Divine Mother and performed the Puja, as should have been.

During the stay of these Rishis at the Sharada Peetha, Rishi Gautama said to the assembled Rishis, "if Tapasya is performed here with austerities and Devi Sharada is worshipped and pleased, then through the grace of Mother Sharada, Shri Durga will be brought on this earth. She is in the form of Shakambari Devi visibly on the earth as the manifestation in the vegetation form. She would remain as such during the Manvantara".

On hearing Rishi Gautama's words, Rishi Bhardwaja said, "The Vipras are graced and made to follow lifelong austerities and practice the prescribed duties towards the Divine. Through their efforts of truthful duties on the earth, this Divine power of wisdom - Jnan Shakti will be called "DURGA SHRI SHĀRDĀ SHĀMBARĀYINI". Who-soever comes to the pilgrimage to this Shrine and perceive Shri Sharada seated here, will become very powerful in word and deed on the basis of 'Satyam and Ritam' and such will be granted the Seat of सर्वज्ञ Sarvajna, the knower of all that is Mahavidya. Nothing more will be for him to know as such devotee will gain the wisdom of knowing the Unknowable."

Shri Krishna Dvaipayana Vyasa be praised, hallowed be his name, who not only collected, analysed and classified the Vedas and made them documented as the Holy record by his disciples - Paila, Vaishampayana, Jaimīni and Sumantū, but he also held discussions on the Vedic Mahāvākyās to be brought to light by the Rishīs in the form of the Upnishads, Aranyaks and Samhitās.

Shri Vyasa himself wrote Uttra Mimansa School of thought, popularly called the Vedanta. It is as relevant to this day as at the time of Vyasa and is a wonder in the world of intellectual thought with modern scientific relevance. He also wrote the Mahabharata epic wherein he gave the theory of 'Cloning' and 'Abhimanyū syndrome.' Above all, he gave us a great gift of the 'Symbol form' and secret of 'Para and Apara Shakti' in the Adi Purana which contains a part of the Sharada Mahatmyam.

Shri Vyasa is therefore, prayed for grace and worshipped as 'Adi Guru'–the first master preceptor as also as one of the seven चिरञ्जीवी Chiranjivis'. On Ashad Purnima (June-July), he is worshipped by all those Hindus who do not have the Master Guru preceptor. Those few who are lucky enough to have their master, worship him in the name of Vyasa. This full moon day is called Vyasa Pūrnima and Gūrū Pūrnima, as well. In addition to this, Vyasa is a seat of learning and his seat is held high in the ceremonial seats, revered as the Vyasa Peetha. The 'Hotar is he, who recites the Vedas and other relevant Scriptures at the performance of Yajna-the fire offerings. He is given the seat of Vyasa-'Vyas Gaddi', and is worshipped for invoking the grace of Vyasa in him and the book from which he recites is also worshipped to invoke the grace of 'Jnana Shakti Saraswati'.

It is no wonder, therefore, that the Mother Sharada is daily remembered by all Hindus, throughout India and abroad, as soon as they wake-up in the morning and sit on the bed, they recite this Shloka:

नमस्ते शारदे देवी काश्मीरपुर वासिनी
त्वामहं प्रणमामि नित्यं विद्या बुद्धिं च देहि मे

English Transliteration:-

English Rendering:-

Salutation to Devi Sharada who takest Her abode in Kashmir. I invoke thy grace! Pray, grant me the learning and wisdom and sharpen my intellect!

Kalhana's version of Shri Sharada in the Rajatarangini.

In his introduction to Rajatarangini the Kashmir History, the historian Kalhan Pandit writes about Shri Sharada in these words:-

For long ages Kashmir has been the centre of Sharada worship, where the Goddess Saraswati may be seen in the form of a swan in the lake on the peak of the 'Bheda' mountain (Reference to Harmukh mountain ranges of Himalayas), which is hallowed by the rise of Ganga, flowing down to join Madhumati and Saraswati rivers to bless the Saint Shandilya. Through this blessing and grace, Kashmir is called the Sharada Mandala.

Last Pandit of Shri Sharada Shrine

Shri Pandit Prakash Swami was the last Purohit of the Shri Sharada Peeth. He had two younger brothers. His ancestors had inherited the priest-hood after the Dogra Maharaja Gulab Singh restored the pilgrimage to Shri Sharada Peeth and Harmukh Ganga after the devastation created by the Governors of Kashmir under the Abdali rulers of Afghanistan, who had invaded and occupied Kashmir after the downfall of Moghal Empire in India. They killed, looted and devastated Kashmir and its inhabitants severely and harshly. The situation of Kashmir can only be imagined, when we refer to 250 years and more back, in that context.

Maharaja Gulab Singh restored the Yatra to Shri Sharada and appointed a family of priests for daily Puja and gave it a 'Jagir' for maintenance and upkeep of the Shrine as also for the boarding and lodging of the pilgrims. He also collected manuscripts, murals and miniature painting from Jammu Kashmir, the Punjab and elsewhere. Thus the Maharaja restored the ancient Library at the Shrine as far as possible. A rope bridge was also constructed to facilitate the pilgrims to cross the river from Muzaffarabad road. This continued upto October 1947.

In October 1947, tribals of Pakistan invaded Kashmir via Kohala Bridge at Muzaffarabad. The bridge was the border between the state of Jammu and Kashmir and British India. The Maharaja's army was attacked suddenly and had to retreat because of very scanty number and want of proper war ammunition and means of transportation and for proper planning as they were taken on unawares and unexpectedly. The tribals looted and destroyed Muzaffarabad with fire, creating havoc with guns. And in panic, people fled towards Srinagar city.

The panic reached Sharadi Village and Prakash Swami's family and others migrated to Srinagar as refugees. According to his statement, they had the notion that the Maharaja Bahadur as was called then had a very strong army which would come and drive back the tribals and restore peace. They were sure to return to their home and hearth and live as usual in service of the pilgrims to the holy shrine. So they took their valuables and personal belongings locking the shrine sanctum sanctorum, library etc. and migrated in haste to Srinagar hoping to return back soon. But this did not happen. The Indian army reached upto Uri only, and cease fire ensued. Now the Shardi hill is in Pakistan occupied Kashmir.

After a few years the refugees returned to the Kamraz zone. Prakash Swami with his wife and children settled in a village near the Tikker hill in Kupwara district. A famous saint who was in Shardi during the Pakistani raid was lifted from Shardi by the tribals and left him at the Tikker hill. This Saint, Swami Sri Nand Lalji lived in the Digambar manner, with a कौपीन Kaupin only. He at Sharada absorbed himself in his austerities and meditation. He remained life long where the tribals had left him making a stray movement to Srinagar, occasionally. The Tikker hillock became an Ashram for him and his disciples.

Prakash Swami took the job of a village postman for his sustenance and spent the spare time with the saints at Tikker Ashram. The Saint Swami Nand Lal ji used to address Prakash Swami as 'Swami' so his real name Prakash Ram changed into Prakash Swami.

Prakash Swami was a great 'Saint and Scholar' in his own right and a revered person in the vicinity. He would feel anguished to hear the word Sharada uttered by anyone as he always felt sad, desperate with a pinch of sorrow for not bringing any manuscript useful for the devotees from the Shrine. Nevertheless, he knew the 'Shandilya Charita' by heart, as also wherefrom one could get a glimpse of the painting of Shri Sharada portrait painting on the basis of the 'Sharada Dhyana Mantra-Shaloka'.

Shandilya Charitam as said by Prakash Swami.

Shri Sharada who takes her abode at the Shri Shaīla hill with serene smile on her blissful face. Her eyes represent the fire, the Sun and the moon and as Parvati, she carries the trident in her hand.

Verily, she is the creative power-matrix of all the Dēvātas, jivās the embodied souls, including the whole universe both matter and life. She has six arms and in this form she has graced Shri Shaila to give Mēkhala-Yajnopavita to her devotee Shandilya. Hallowed be the name of Sharada, she is easily available and attainable in this form to the true devotees. She is the Presiding deity of the मातृका-शक्ति Matrika Shakti. She grants boons to all supplicants. May Mother Sharada grant me peace!

No better elucidation can be seen in the world literature in respect of Absolute 'Brahmn' in the Mother aspect. Who other can do that? But the Divine Mother is the shelter and support for a forlorn person! One who has none to support is the child of the Sharada, who is Supreme Mother of the Universe; and, infinity lies between none and the one. The world history is full of legends that the world's greatest luminaries had nothing to support and rely on, except the grace Supreme; and, the description of the grace in this Dhyana Mantra is a complete symbol and form, where the Supreme takes the Mother form to fulfil a single wish of a rejected person, who strived for nothing material but only wanted to have 'Upnayana-Sanskars' to become a – द्विज 'Dwija', purely to live the life of austerity and seek the Grace which is Supreme bliss. This is verily, the story of the Vipra Shandilya. Vipra is Dwija in the Vedic tradition, being invested with 'Mekhala' alone.

Vipra Shandilya was born in the South or South West India in the Kritayuga – during very ancient times, much earlier than the time of the Rishi Veda Vyasa, as per the 'Sharada Tirtha-Mahatmyam'. His life story is acknowledged as the Shandilya Charita-a record now perhaps lost. The legend says as revealed by Shri Prakash Swami verbatim, that the Vipra Shandilya had none to support, he was not given Mekhala Upnayana Sanskar, for which he craved and roamed from place to place. Some recluse advised the boy to go to Varanasi-the famous ancient town of Kashi Vishwanath, where his ardent desire might be fulfilled. The boy went to Varanasi but none obliged him there, on the reason that he never knew his parentage and ancestory as he was not aware of his lineage. He only knew his name, with which he was addressed at his native place. Roaming from place to place in Varanasi, he met a Saint at a 'ghat' of the Holy River Ganga. Seeing the boy's earnest desire and great suffering, the Saint felt that the boy would become a महापुरुष—Mahapūrūsha a gifted and great soul, if his desire of Upnayana Sanskar gets fulfilled. So the Siddha saint directed the boy to go to Kashmir, the land blessed by the Vitasta River.

Thus the child Shandilya travelled the long hazardous journey and crossed hills and mountain passes to reach the Southern Kashmir known as Maraz-the modern Anantnag district. He kept wandering for some time when a Sarswat Brahmin took pity upon him and gave him the पञ्चवर्ण श्री सरस्वती मंत्र—'Panchvarana Shri Saraswati Mantra' and taught him the method of meditation. He directed him to go to the northern Kashmir called कामराज Kāmraja and stay there at the bank of the 'Madhumati' river and do तपस्या tapasya there at the base of 'Mahashaila' known as Harmukh mountain range. The later story is recorded in the Sharada Mahatmyam as already said.

According to the Charita too, Vipra Shandilya was directed to go to 'Shri Shaila' at the confluence of the sacred rivers, after his mind-set of लोक हित Loka Hita- the purposeful desire of goodness for others, was thoroughly tested. 'The लोकहित कार्य Loka Hita Kāryā and the परहित कार्य Parahit Karya', the terms meaning to do good to others–the mankind in particular, remained the strong Kashmiri ethos till the mass exodus of the K.P. community took place, in 1990 A.D. When by and large the following Kashimiri axioms were used in day to day talks: (1) युस परस करि खार, तस छु गरस "Yūs paras Kari Khaer Tas Chhū Gharas" meaning that who so ever does good to others will have good for himself and his family; and: क्रयि खोत छु इंसाफ ब्वड़ - "Krēyi Khota Chhu Insaaf Boad' 'meaning that justice is greater than the offering prayers."

Before leaving the place mentioned Vipra Shandilya converted his Ashram into a Shrine of Shri Sharada and travelled further in the direction shown to him. He took sojourn at several places on his way to the allotted place. Among these, the famous place is the village Gushi in Kupwara district near the Tikker hill. There was a stone slab with carving of शारदा चक्र 'Sharada Chakra' and this slab looks like a tablet. The carving is a centre of a triangle with apex downwards and Sharada Aum in the centre, the outside of the triangle are two intersecting equilateral triangles formed in a षट्कोण -Hexagonal way. The linear diagram is as 'Bindu-Trikona-Shatkona-Bhupurm-Iti':

YANTRIK DIAGRAM

During 1975-76, this slab was shifted from the centre of the sanctum sanctorum to a side wall of the temple and in its place an idol of सिंहवाहिनी दुर्गा -'Simhavahini Duraga' was installed by the local Hindus.

Returning to the main story of Shandilya Charita, his next sojourn happened to be टिक्कर-Tikker hill, where at midway is the 'शारदापल' - 'Sharadapal', a huge round stone fixed in the earth, only the round top whereof is seen. It is said that when Swami Nand Lal ji was brought from Shardi Village as a nude recluse by the tribal, they camped at this hill using this stone as the base of the cooking spot where they cooked their daily food. They left the spot in haste and panic striven on the arrival of the Indian Army, and the Swami stayed later there for his whole life. His three disciples and others changed this hill into an Ashram. At the top of the hill an imitating spring तत्सम कुण्ड—miniature copy of Shri Kshir Bhawani, Tulmulla, was dug and in the centre of it a temple of Simhavahini Shri Durga was constructed and the Devi enshrined there, with all reverence and invocation. The Ashram provided food and shelter to all those who visited the Ashram and stayed there for days and nights. A large shed with the roof of GCI sheets was erected, where a devotee could sit for the morning and evening, dawn and dusk meditation, as well as for offering prayers to Shri Durga.

Finally, Shandilya reached at the chosen spot of the peak of Shri Shaila, where Shri Sharada appeared to him giving him - साक्षात्कार Sakshatara. Mother Sharada addressed Shandilya as पुत्र-Putra, the son. "Ask for a boon O son! All your desires will be fulfilled." Vipra Shandilya had no other desire, but the one, for which he had strived hard and suffered long. So he requested for the 'Mekhala-Upnayana Sanskar'. "This will be soon done. Ask about some other boon. That will be granted," commanded the Mother. Vipra Shandilya supplicated falling at her Divine feet, "O Mother! If you be so kind and benevolent! Pray stay here in this very form for my spiritual awakening and for the betterment of the world." तथास्तु -"Tathastu-be it so" said the Divine Mother.

Thus came Shri Sharada into existence and blessed the Kashmir मण्डल Mandala and all those who came to this 'Shri Shaila' as pilgrims.

In the meantime, the Brahmin of 'Maraj' area who had given Shandilya the 'पञ्चावर्ण मंत्र' – 'Panchavarna Mantra' was commanded to come to Shri Shaila along with 'Hotars and Purohits' and the necessary material for the 'Mekhla-Upnayana Sanskara' of Vipra Shandilya, Eventually, he received the मातृ भिक्षा -'Matri Bhiksha' from Mother Sharada herself and Sakhi—the companion, as mentioned earlier. He was blessed with the words: ॐ स्वस्ति सिद्धम् "AUM SWASTI SIDDHAM".

The name "Shasteika Deva Sharma" among the Saptarshis and other Rishis as referred to in the Sharada Mahatmyam of the Adi Purana' is perhaps the Brahmin preceptor of Vipra Shandilya, who gave him Panchavarna Sharada Mantra of 'Nila Saraswati' as said in the second line of Shloka of Sharada Sahasranama, while the first line is मुक्तिदा मुनि वाण्येशी शाण्डिल्य वरदायिनी। Mukti Da Muni Vaneīshi Shandilya Vardāyini. Thus concludes the Shandilya Charita. ॐ नमः.

It is not known as who constructed the huge and magnificent stone temple. The later kings added to its grandeur and architectural significance. Kalhan Pandit's Rajatarangini gives no account of it, except that during the King Kalasha and his son Harsha's reign some river side columns had fallen during severe earthquakes in the area. Later, two historians of Kashmir—Shrivara and Zonaraja gave some accounts of the happenings, and the destructions and devastations caused by Sultan Sikander of Shahmiri dynasty to which Sharada shrine must not have remained untouched. Sultan's second son Shahi Khan who revolted against his brother's tyranny destroyed his brother and his regime and enforced rule of law in Kashmir. Shahi Khan ruled over Kashmir for about 50 years and brought back Kashmiri Hindus who had run away from the Valley in the exodus, fearing danger to their life and honour. This king is named as Budshah in the annals of History. According to Zonraja the contemporary historian records the Pilgrimage of Budshah to the Sharada Shrine.

Alberuni the 8th-9th century traveller records his travel account of Kashmir. While going to Sharada Shrine with pilgrims, he met a Brahmin who was copying the manuscripts. On enquiry the Brahmin informed him that in future, bad times would be in offing so he was collecting and copying the manuscripts to keep these at a safe place. Alberuni was surprised to note that in the Sharada script, zero is written as a dot(.) and one is written as a round shape(0). When the Brahmin was questioned, he said that zero means nothingness called शून्य Shunya in Sanskrit language, which when put on the right side of the number digit gives it tenfold power; otherwise it has no substance. The point too is really a non-substance so a dot is a point in reference to an identity of Reality; while as (1) One is the infinite Lord manifest creator and the creation. Therefore, it is proper to write figure-1 as(0).

According to Albureni, the Sanctum Sanctorum of the Sharada shrine complex enshrined wooden idol of the deity Sharada. He further writes that it was the most famous idol revered in Hindustan and respected by all cults and religions. There is hardly any other evidence except that, some paintings of Shad Bhuja Sharada were in Kashmir. The Gujjars of Shardi village, however lament about the loss and go to the doorway and shout जय शारदा अम्बा, शारदे शारदे दिवी माती दी शारदी। "Jai Sharada Amba and Sharade Sharade Divya Mathi De Sharde", and दया करो शारदा माँ "Daya karo Sharada Ma".

But then, writings in respect of Shri Sharada in his travel account of the Arab traveller needs to be authenticated by reference to some other material source. For this, we must refer to the life and works of Shri Adi Shankarachayra, which gives a full and authentic confirmation of Albureni's account.

Adi Shankaracharya, the 8th Century scholar and the Saint-Avatar Purusha, an incarnation of great eminence and spiritual power that he was none other than lord Shiva incarnated. None equals him in his intellectual heights in the history of Hindu philosophical thought within the Saint Scholars, after Shri Krishna Dvaipayana Vyasa, the great genius of the 'Ayavartta'. None could excel him after Shri Shankara, in the Advaita Vedanta.

It sounds much amazing that a child who lost his father in his early childhood and his mother, being a destitute, should learn all scriptures by heart, while standing outside the wall of a hermitage-school premises punctually, where the Vedas and other Scriptures were taught through loud chorus recitations. Adi Shankara was not allowed entrance into the School premises. He stood outside it daily and learnt everything by heart. Such was his sharp memory.

After his Mekhala Yajnopavit, Adi Sankara used to go for alms, door to door as a Brahmachari—the hermit boy. At the age of 8 years he became a recluse Sannyasi after seeking proper permission from his mother and left for the Bharata Darshana. Finally, he found his master at the hermitage on the bank of River Narmada. His Guru's name was Shri Govindpada, the disciple of a very great Saint, Gaudapada, in the lineage of the Adi Guru Vyasa. Shri Govindapada or Govinda Jati as he was popularly revered gave him proper initiation and taught him the subtle Vedanta Sutras of Shri Vyasa. Adi Shankara wrote a large and elaborate commentary on the Vedanta Sutra, on the Bhagwadgita and on all the principle Upanishads. He was not only a commentator, but the great scholar of the Hindu पञ्चायतन देवता— Pantheon Ganesh, Surya, Vishnu, Shiva and Devi. The Gouri Dashakam, Meenakshi Panchaka, Lalita Panchaka, Saundarya Lahiri, Shivoham and similar other works including Bhaj Govindam, which are still current in the religious ethos of the Hindus have been authored by him. He advised all the devotees to be in tune with the Lord, who is 'Brahman'-both manifest and unmanifest. In the Shakti tradition of Kashmir, the Kashmiri Pandits recite daily the Stotra of Gouri Dashakam, in the Shakti-Peethas. All men, women and children recite daily and on congregations गौरीं-अम्भां-अम्भुरूहाक्षीम...।
"Gourim Ambam Amburuh-Akshim Ahameedei."

Almost all this scholastic work was done by Shri Shankara upto the age of 16 years. Thereafter, as directed by his Master, he went from place to place discussing the doctrine of the Vedanta with eminent scholars of other schools of thought.

Such discussions were organized while probing the sensitive matters related to Brahmn, Prakriti and Jivatman. Some scholars got united to get rid of this youth of adolescent age, who wandered challenging one and all. But Adi Shankara defeated all of them on the basis of logic and critical thinking. Many great scholars and heads of the cults had to commit suicide by self imposed punishments of self immolation or by drowning themselves in the rivers due to humiliation. All the Hindu cults, sub-cults and adherents of different schools of thought were brought into one fold with freedom of choice of invoking and worshipping any form of Shiva, Vishnu and Shakti or the formless in tune with the Veda Vakya "Sarvam Khalu idam Brahman— meaning that all visible as well as invisible power of the proper set up of everything is Brahman." After bringing all the cults into the one fold of monism, Adi Shankara divided all the Sādhus, Saints and seers into the ten groups called Dashnami bearing the titled names of Puri, Giri, Bhārati, Saraswati etc., which presently do exist in the same manner and when they come together they stay at such places which are called Dashnami Akharas, where they are served with food and shelter.

Adi Shankaracharya did all this upto his age of 30 years. Then he went for pilgrimage to Shri Sharada at Shri Shaila. After answering the questions put to him in the Shrine complex by the scholars of Kashmir, he was offered the seat of सर्वज्ञ Sarvajana, the highest seat of wisdom in the Hindu spiritual ethos and he opened the Southern gate of entrance to the 'Temple Complex' which hitherto remained closed for entrance as none worth the name had come from south to that pilgrimage and earned admission to the Shrine. Adi Shankara worshipped Mother Sharada profusely in his heart and invoked the Divine Mother Sharada or the Divine power. Thus he received the grace and carried the Divine mission of the Sharada tradition to the South West and Western India where he established two Muths—the seats of learning in the name of Shri Sharada. These are (1) द्वारिका शारदा पीठ Dwarika Sharada Peeth and (2) शारदाम्बा पीठ Sharadamba Peeth at Shringeri. The other two Muths established by him is the Himalayan Muth at the Kedarnath—far north and the Puri Muth at Brindaban. In these four Peeths, he established the seats of Peethadisha, the incharge heads of the seats of learning with the title of Shankaracharyas, to his four main disciples, who had attained the highest of wisdom as their Master had in the गुरु शिष्य परम्परा Guru-Shisha Parampara, with the assignment of their duties to continue the Vedic message and to rectify the problems of 'Dharma' which naturally accrue in time and place. He established the order with their appointment.

After doing all this foolproof arrangement, Adi Shankaracharya as per the common belief, went to Kanchipuram, the place where he had got sustenance during his early childhood in the Kamakoti Shrine of देवीत्रिपुरा 'Devi Tripura' and gave up his body at the age of 32. Some say he merged with the absolute at the Kedarnatha heights of the Himalayas. His companion disciple got the seat of Shankacharya of Kamkotipeetham, where the present Shankaracharya Swami is His Holiness Jyayendra Saraswati-the 68th Shankaracharya who was appointed to the seat by his Param Guru H.H. Chandrashekhendra Saraswati Swamigal, the most revered one, who himself had got the seat at the age of 13, but who relinquished it in favour of his disciple H.H. Jayandra Saraswati Mahaswamigal and walked from village to village throughout the South and South west for 55 long years bringing back the majority of the whole area to the Sanatana Dharma. He passed away in 1994 at the age of 100 plus. He was the Jagat Guru in the spiritual sense of the term and is considered Avatara of Shri Adi Shankaracharya tradition, with similar cognitive faculty of the Vedic knowledge.

After these long narrations to give the authentication to the fact, that the मूर्ति Murti/idol of Shri Sharada at Shri Shaila was wooden, is that Shri Adi Shankara too enshrined Sharada by the प्राण प्रतिष्ठा Prana pratishtha of a wooden idol, and this idol is worshipped by the Peethadish Shri Shankaracharya Swami even now, though the pilgrims and others who visit Shringeri Peetha worship the gold idol, of Shri Sharada enshrined by Swami Vidyaranya the author of Shankara Digvijay. The मूर्ति Murti of Shri Sharada made of wood enshrined in the sanctum sanctorum of Shri Sharada Shrine was lost in earthquakes as said in the earlier pages. It is not known whether it was replaced later or not, but the Sharada Chakra carved on a large stone slab existed till October 1947.

Shri Sharada is also enshrined in the Shankaracharya Mutha of Dwarika Sharada Peeth. The Peethadipati H.H. Shri Shankaracharya Swami visited Kashmir in 1957-58. He was worshipped at Shri Rama Chandra temple premises by Swami Nirmalanand Giri, the Mahant of Sadhu Akhara near Barbarsha bridge at Sathu, Srinagar. Though Shri Shankaracharya walked barefooted a silver throne was placed with apparel umbrella, silver foot-stool and silver foot-wear to which he was ushered and seated. This worship was a memorable event, with huge gathering. Later, Shri Shankaracharya climbed the steps upto the Gopa hill and performed Puja at the ancient temple of Zeath Yaira (Jyeshteswara). The whole hill is a holy place. Then he installed the marble statue of Shri Adi Shankaracharya at the base of the Jyeshteshwar temple on the right side of the steps that lead to the main temple. Since ancient times the Kashmiri Pandits use to dig out clay at certain points of the holy hill which they would use to make पार्थिवेश्वर Parthiva Shivalingam for worship, later to be immersed into the Vitasta River in the evening. At foot of this holy Gopa hill on the road side is an ancient spring called Durga Nag, in the centre whereof is the temple, where Shri Durga is enshrined. The whole adjacent area is called Drugjan- a derivation of ancient name Durga Janpad.

On his return Shri Shankaracharya of Dwarika Sharada Peeth stayed at Jammu for some time and collected Shaligram from the store of Shri Raghunath Temple Jammu and enshrined them in the Sharada Peeth complex at Dwarika and sent the Pratistha photograph to the Adhishthata of Shri Raghunath Temple.

Sharadabal- The Sharada Upa-Peetha at Kalusa

The Bandipur-Sopore road, curves to the left towards Sopore via Vatlab. At this curve, the village Kalusa is situated. From the road a path makes a slope towards the interior of the village. This path extends to a rivulet, a distance of about sixty meters and the left side of the path from the road onwards has a stone wall which is the northern boundary wall of the Sharadabal premises. On the rivulet, there is a very small wooden bridge which connects the interior through the extension of the said path, where a cluster of the buildings of Kashmiri Pandits are seen on the both sides of the path way.

Across the wooden bridge mentioned at the left side of the bridge towards the east is the gate of the Sharadabal. When a person turns towards the gate, on his right the person perceives a very tall tree with very thick extended branches all around. The girth of the tree at the base is very huge, which is surrounded by the stone parapet wall about 4 feet high enclosing its three sides and the 4th side is in the Shrine premises where a shivalaya temple is constructed with stone masonry from three sides and fourth outer side is enclosed with the tree, giving a look of the fourth wall of the Shivalaya. In Kashmiri language this tree is called "Bren Kui".

Inside the Shivalaya is installed an ancient Shivalinga which is mainly worshipped by the devotees. Adjacent to it, there is another 4 feet Shivalinga called मेरु –Meru, on the front side of which is an image of the Buddha with carved head and half torso, facing the east. Near to it there is an eight inches tall idol of 'Nagarjuna' clothed in apparently of human frame as the head dangles at the right thigh of the idol and a human foot is visible at the left shoulder. The back of the statue resembles that of a पान पत्र—Betel leaf. It appears that the idol reminds of the कापालिक Kapalik cult of the Vajrayana Buddhism; because the Kapalik cult is the Tantrik blend of Shaiva and Vajrayana Buddhism of Mantrayana. Nagarjuna was the first of the Mantrayana Buddhism as also the Siddha of Natha Panth of Shaivism. This Meru and the idol was brought from a spring named 'Kalaya Nag' some seventy five years ago as the peasants of the fields around, found it while clearing the silt off the spring. They informed the Hindu inhabitants, who brought these idols and installed them in the Shivalaya.

The rivulet mentioned earlier comes from the Shrine premises. It is a branch of river Madhumati which enters into the premises from the eastern side and flows westward dividing the premises into two parts, and emerges out by the side of the Sharadabal gate. This rivulet is named in Kashmiri 'Dodhakohl' meaning the milk rivulet.

The bank of this rivulet forms the path to the centre of the premises. Here is the temple where Shri Sharada is enshrined in the form of two पिण्डी Pindis (the natural stone forms). This temple was constructed by a Kashmiri Pandit saint who had come from Srinagar and stayed in the premises for some time more than eighty years ago, say around in 1925 A.D.

These two Pindis were seated near a big tree since remote past at the place, where now the temple exists. These two Pindis (see the photo picture) symbolically relate to the narration of the 'Adi Purana' wherein the तपस्वनी ब्रह्माणी—Tapasvini Brahmini and her companion-first Garuda and then 'Sakhi' are mentioned to have visited the Vipra Shandilya. This also symbolizes the 'Kriya Shakti' and 'Ichha Shakti' mentioned in the Bhagwadgita chapter 8 verse 3, as 'भूत भव' Bhuta Bhava and 'अध्यात्म भव' Adyatma Bhava of 'अक्षर ब्रह्मन्' Akshar Brahmn, in the form of विसर्ग Visargaha (:)— the power that creates and forms the bi-polar worlds.

As already said these two Pindis rested near a tree since ancient times. Traditionally, these were painted with vermillion, (Sanskrit name Sindoor, a compound of mercury sulphate) mixed with heated clarified butter to make the तिलकम् Tilkam, annually on the auspicious day of Sharada Ashtami and Ganga Ashtami, according to the Agamic tradition of Kashimir. The village Hindus used to offer जल-अभिषेकम् Water Abishekam and worship these Pindis with flowers and अक्षत-rice grains. This used to be the daily morning routine traditionally.

The Sadhu, who as already mentioned, cut the tree and constructed the temple at that spot. He probably used the timber of the tree, in the construction work of the temple, after proper Abhishekam and प्राण-प्रतिष्ठा Prana Pratisha. Thereafter, daily Puja was done by the Hindus of Kalusa and the nearby villages of Kharpura and Ajas. They would perform the Puja with flowers and rice grains at the Sandhya periods of dawn and dusk daily and the recitation of Stotra followed the Puja.

In the mid 1960's a wandering monk—a Sannyasi came and stayed in the Sharada temple Parikrama for a few days to the surprise of the village folk. No Sadhu was hitherto able to spend a night there unperturbed being frightened; though dozens of them visited this place during the summer every year especially during the Yatra periods of Shri Amarnath ji cave. According to the village Hindus, none among the visiting Sadhus stayed for the night in the temple area, and, whosoever ventured to stay for a night there, was not seen in the morning there, but would go away during the night or otherwise would be found frightened and shivering in the morning. The Sadhus would request for the immediate travel by bus either for Srinagar or Sopore, without giving any reason but would display fear and fret.

Astonishingly, this Sannyasi, as mentioned, stayed unperturbed. So the villagers requested him to stay there and made arrangements for his food and shelter. He selected that very corner for his stay where none ventured to stay for the night. The villagers built a small room hut as an extension of the परिक्रमा Parikrama space outside with the door inside Parikrama and a small window towards the rivulet. The Sannyasi who stayed there was Swami Govindananda. He was initiated to the Sannyasi order in the Ramkrishna Mission Muth at Madras. After getting initiated, he opted for the life of a wandering monk and covered whole of India in his journey going from village to village and state to state from Maharashtra to Assam and Kerala to Himachala Pradesh receiving one time food in his hands and eating near a tree. Basically, he was from Kerala and could speak and write in Malayalam, Tamil and the Devanagari script as well and could communicate in that script. Hindi, he could speak with same fluency. He finally stayed in a famous Devi temple-the roofless one at the bank of Byas River in Mandi town of Himachal Pradesh. After a few years, he suddenly left the place and reached Pathankot, where he saw groups of Sadhus going to Shri Amarnath Yatra. He too went for the pilgrimage with the annual Chhari Yatra to the cave. On return from the Yatra, he continued roaming in Kashmir as before and in this way reached Kalusa and stayed at Sharadabal for over twenty years until he attained Nirvana. He was buried in the premises of the village cremation ground with proper Sannyasi burial system but not according to his personal will and choice. He had chosen the place of his Samadhi near the entrance gate just adjacent to Shivala under the shade of the 'Bren' tree. This 'will' he had expressed after the annual Hawan Yajna of Guru Purnima and said: "I would not be alive to see the next years Hawan, which should be continued annually and after his death he should be buried at that particular spot."

Pandit Sarvanand Qazi belongs to one of the affluent families of the villagers of Kalusa. A highly educated and an upright person, he had cultivated a good rapport with Swami Govindananda. His whole family served the Sannyasi. During the congregations they received devotees and provided necessary items for the pilgrims to the Shrine. Many others too held the Swami in good esteem and did his bidding, as this Sannyasi did great service to the Sharadabal shrine. First of all, Swami Govindananda checked all trespasses to the shrine premises with stern discipline. There was no check and no one listened to the reason, but this Sanyasi was very stern, in keeping the sanctity of the shrine in its purest form. Pretending wrathful anger, he stopped every kind of trespassing by raising the height of the boundary wall by masonry stone work and by erecting the wall around the shrine. He got a couple of wooden bathrooms constructed over the stream near the main gate for females as well. He cleared and cleaned the whole area of the premises, planted hedges partitioning the area in beautiful layout making the paths to Shivala and the Sharada temple and the banks of the stream and gave the area a good shape of a garden and terraces in front and the rear of the Shrine temple. Thereafter, he would give his attention to Upasana, Hawan-Yajnas of flower offerings and organized congregations, apart from his routine उपासना— Upasana of the Sharada Devi.

In 1976, Swami Govindananda started Havans-Yajna on the Ashada Purnima, also known as the Vyas Purnima or Guru Purnima. He went to Bijbehara town and invited a famous Hotar चन्द्र तारक -'Tsandra-Taruk' for the purpose of an Agamic Havan, arranged performance of Panchdeva Havan Yajna as described in the Laughakshi Paddati of Kashmir. Himself being a Sannyasi, he never entered into the 'Yajna-Shala' but instead saw the performance from outside the fencing as the Sannyasi can not perform the Havan-Yajna, according to the Vedic tradition. He invited all the Hindus of Kalusa and other two villages in the vicinity-Kharpura and Ajas to participate and hired the services of cooks to prepare food and other edibles for Prasad etc. as the Kashmiri Pandit tradition demanded. He also invited a few dozen recluse Sadhus from Srinagar, Bandipur town and other places of the valley and made proper arrangements for all, in cooperation with the village folk. Thus that was a grand सामूहिक हवन Samuhik Havan, from the cross section of the society.

After the completion of the Yajna and प्रसाद वित्तीर्ण food services, which he supervised personally, he went to the 'Hotar and Purohits', bowed to them and paid them 'Dakshina' individually. Then he bowed to each of the Sadhus, young and old and paid them Dakshina according to their status, under the directions of the Sadhus who had managed to invite and bring them to the Shrine. Next morning he would pay them their bus fare and give them grand send-off at the bus stand. This practice continued till his life time in the Sharadabal Shrine.

A couple of months later, he arranged for the ललिता-सहस्रनाम पुष्पार्चना 'Lalita Sahasranam Pushp-archana' performed by the expert Sadhus of the Shakti Marga learned in the कादि विद्या Kadi Vidya. Some forty two learned recluse Sadhus actively participated in the groups of six in each sitting, one taking the seat of Hotra and five others repeating the Sahsranamavali while reading from their sacred text of the Lalita Sahsranama. In each sitting, the Sahasranama were recited by one, each offering flowers to the Lalita Tripursundari invoked in the centre with कलश Kalasha and मण्डलाकार Mandala Diagram, according to the sacred texts. One devotee supplied two thousand lotus flowers obtained from Mansabal lake, free of cost, while other varieties of flowers-rose, marigold and aromatic Kashmiri herb-plants of all hues and scents were collected and offered during the अहोरात्र पारायण-twenty four hour continuous recitation; each group reciting the names of Sahasranam a prefixing ॐ 'Aum' and suffixing नमः 'Namah', twice in one sitting and then rotating group wise affording proper rest to the पारायण कर्तृ devotees, who were reciting the sahsranama.

After completion of this Pushparchana, prayers were recited and the Brahmchari recluse Sadhus performed Til—sesame and Ghee Hawan in their own manner. Then the Puja of Shatkona (hexagonal Shaped) Mandala was undertaken, in the sanctum of the Shrine of Shri Sharada. It was performed and concluded with the distribution of food to the Sadhus and the local inhabitants of the three villages. It was a marvellous function giving a higher ecstasy of peace to one and all.

During the ensuring period Swami Govind-ananda motivated the devout women of Kalusa village to take up the cooking activity during such functions in the Sharadabal. All worked enthusiastically and fulfilled the desires of the recluse to arrange these congregations and religious festivities, for spiritual benefits.

A permanent यज्ञशाला Yajnashala with properly ventilated roof was constructed. The roofed kitchen about 15 feet away from the Yajnashala of pacca bricks was constructed. Technically in Kashmiri style a वुर 'Wurra' was made, for making the Naiveda, which would befit all the devotees, where more than ten large cooking pots could be placed at one time. Thus the arrangement became a permanent feature of the Sharadabal Shrine.

During this very year in the coming autumn Navaratra, Swami Govindananda arranged Navaratra Upasana in the temple, with the strict discipline of closing the sanctum sanctorum of the shrine for the public for nine days of Navaratra Sadhana. The daily worshippers were asked to do their Puja on the verandah at the gate. The performer's credentials were tested by Swami Premananda of Bandipore Shiva temple, popularly known as the Mauni Baba, in presence of the prominent villagers of the three villages and then only the villagers agreed to allow the closure of the main shrine for 9 days for the public.

Navaratra Sadhana was invoked under the 'Laughakshi' pattern of Kalash Puja and 'Bhumi Puja' by the Purohit of the village and Shri Navadurga was invoked by यव-आरोपण sowing barley with proper consecration. All the 13 chapters of the Durga-Saptashati with Kavacha, Argala, Kilaka, Ratri Sukta, Devi Sukta, Devi Atharvashirsha, Kunjika Stotra Pujanam, Pushparchana was performed daily for nine days with proper 'पञ्चशिखा अखण्ड-ज्योति स्थापना'—Panchshikha Akhanda Jyoti Sthapana at the time of Kalasha Puja. The holy sprouting of the barley was visible on the 4th day and on the 9th day the barley seeds had grown and stretched towards the other wall of the sanctum sanctorum as tall as the ripened paddy plant. On the 9th day, the door was opened for the public which marvelled at the sight of the (यज्ञ-कुण्ड) Yajna-Kunda, giving a very vibrant look of the Sharada Devi as the Nava-Durga. Chandi Yajna-Havan was started and concluded on the 10th day which is Dashmi tithi. Shri Jagannath Chandra of Srinagar, Shri Shyam Sunder of Sopore and the local Purohit performed the Havan. Shri Chandra was given the seat of Vyasa (Chandra-Tarak)-the Hōtār and the person who performed the 9 days Navaratra Upasana performed the Hawan as Yajmān. All sacrifices mentioned in the Durga Saptashati were offered using the coconut as being the symbol of Asuras which were destroyed by Shri Durga as Shri Maha Kali, Maha Lakshmi and Maha Saraswati. At the conclusion hour, nine Kumaris were worshipped invoking, in the manner of Shodashopachara Puja-Paddhati, Argya, Asana etc. for receiving grace of Shri Durga, in the manner of (1) Shailaputri, (2) Brahmacharini, (3) Chandraganta, (4) Kushmanda, (5) Skandamata, (6) Katyayani, (7) Kalaratri, (8) Mahagauri, (9) Siddhidhatri.

During the winter of this year, Swami Govindananda motivated Shri Sarvanand Qazi for Search of Sharada 'Sahasra-Nama'. During that period of time Shri Sarvanand Qazi happened to be the principal of a Government 10+2 pattern school in Kupwara district. He found the Sharada Sahasranama manuscript in the Sharada script with one Narayan joo of Andrahama village. Sh. Narayan joo recited it and Shri Sarvanand Qazi wrote it in the Devnagri script. Dụe to mispronunciation of the recitation and the transliteration of the Sahasranama, it was full of errors. However, Shri Sarvanand Qazi got it printed on a litho-press. This printed Sahasranama is the first time print publication in the history of the Sharada Sahsranama publication. It was distributed among the devotees of Sharada then. This paved way for further work on the Sharada Sahasranama. Sometime after, Shri Ramkrishna Sastri 'Aveya', editor of the Sanskrit Magazine 'Suprabhatam', and the Librarian of the famous Sanskrit MSS Library of Shri Raghunath Temple manuscript library was contacted. He gave a copy of the manuscript of Shri Sharada Sahasranama for compilation that helped to get it printed at the Chand Press, Jammu. Two thousand copies were printed by Swami Govindananda. There existed some printing errors for want of proper proof reading, which were corrected manually. This Sahasranama though priced at Rs. 2/- per copy to cover the cost of publication, was distributed free by the Swami. This was taken as welcome gesture by the devotees of Srinagar, Jammu and Delhi as Swami Govindananda got full cooperation and funds to get the idol of Shri Sharada made on the basis of the Dhyana Mantra of Shri Sharada, as given in the Sahasranama as well as the miniature painting, got from one Shrikanth Petū of Zaindar Mohalla Srinagar, a copy whereof was drawn by a famous artist Shri Suraj Tikoo. This copy of the original one was given to Jaimini sculptors (Arts) of Khazanē wali Gali, Jaipur, who made the marble idol of single piece stone. This Murti was installed with proper प्राण-प्रतिष्ठा Pran Pratistha, consecration and invoking Shri Sharada in the Murti. The well learned Purohits under the guidance of Shri Pitambar Shastri of Rainawari performed the service of invoking and installing Shri Sharada in the sanctum sanctorum of Sharadabal Shrine. (See the Photographs).

There after, proper Devi Puja with regular Abhisheka of Murti and proper वस्त्र निवेदन समर्पण dressing and other services as per Hindu ethos became daily routine. Devotees would visit the shrine, which remained open for day and at the twilight संध्या for Puja. The other annual Havans continued as usual and the visits of the devotees augmented.

Swami Govindananda lived for about 11 years after the installation of the Murti of the Divine Mother Shri Sharada. This decade of life which he devoted was with activities focussing on the development of Shri Sharada Shrine. Some miracles also happened to several devotees who did contribute in the Nishkama Bhava to the development of this sacred Shrine. One Mr. Bhat of Karan Nagar Srinangar purchased a lot of Devdar logs in auction at the Government Timber Depot at Parimpora, got this timber sawed, according to the architectural designs at the Parimpora saw mill and sent two truck loads of timber to Sharadabal. A well known businessman, Shri Mela Ram of Srinagar sent 23 GCI sheets and some plain G.I. sheets to the Shrine. The roof of the Shrine Temple was renovated and reconstructed. A hall of 45 ft x 20 ft. was constructed on the right side of the Shrine Temple, adjacent to the hut of the Swami, and the boundary walls were roofed with the remaining G.I. sheets and old G.G.I. sheets to protect them from the weight of snow and the heavy rainfall. The hall was named as the Ananda Bhawan. All village folk and devotees from other places of Kashmir stayed in the hall in groups during Hawan and other congregation or otherwise the hall become the place for daily assembly of कीर्त्तन-भजन Kirtan Bhajan of devotees in mornings and evenings, to recite prayers and do individual meditation and Japa.

The whole premises of the Sharadabal gave a beautiful look of a garden in terraces. In front of the Sharada Shrine, path leads on to the Swami's hut. To the east, is the rose garden enclosed with hedges and arch gate in the left of it is the ground floor where food Prasad is served. This ground ends at the rivulet. Ghats have been laid out with the Diver stone on the both sides of the rivulet to facilitate the pilgrims and others for washing and bathing. A 'ghat' has been paved out side the gate too.

After all this was done under the spiritual guidance of the Swami the floor of the temple of Santum Sanctorum was paved with coloured chips and the tiles fixed on the walls. The marble was fixed all around the floor surrounding the huge 'Bren-tree', being a symbol of spiritual existence. During mid 1980's Shri Sarvanand Qazi was elected Chairman of the Sharada committee of the Villagers and Shri Manohar lal was elected the Secretary. Both these persons gave full cooperation in the activities of Swami Govindananda and his mission–like work were done to his entire satisfaction with zest and zeal.

There are 16 springs, many of which have ancient walls made of chiselled stone. Each of the spring is known by the ancient name of नाग–Nag. We have Jogi Nag, Nath Nag, Kalai Nag etc., where Nag in Kashmiri means the spring and is associated with Naga culture of the yore. Jogi Nag refers to the Yogis and Nath Nag refers to the Nath Panthi Yogis. Kalai Nag refers to the boundary and it gives the clear notion that beyond this spring must have been the boundary of the ancient and medieval Sharada Shrine complex. About fifty yards away from this spring is the Sheikh pura Mohalla. This Kalai Naga must have been a large spring in the medieval times which is now shrunk to a small spring. The gush of water is still there. The Meru Shiva linga and Nagarjuna idol were got out from this spring and carried to Shivalaya near the "Bren" tree at the gate of Sharada Bal. Those who got out these two idols from the spring say that they tried hard to get the stone slab which appears as a lid on the spring, but they failed. The stone slab, must be very large and is fixed with earth filling, giving it the present shape of प्रणाली pranali of Shivalinga. Beneath the stone slab there must be a treasure of ancient idols which that time Hindus must have hidden against the wrath of Sultan Sikander Butshikan. A walled area of land on the right side of the slope, which leads to the field as already said, is now a graveyard with a few graves. In the Bandipur revenue record this walled land is shown as the land of Sharada. Thus far is the history of Sharadabal shrine of Kalusa, which has reference in regard to the Tapasya of Vipra Shandalya.

Now the attention goes to Sharada Panchanga, the MSS whereof is available in the Shri Raghunath Temple Jammu manuscript Library. Panchanga is the five fold description of Shri Sharada in (i) शारदा पटल Sharada Patal, (ii) शारदा स्तोत्र कवचम् Sharada Stotra Kavacham, (iii) शारदा पूजा पद्धति Sharada puja Padati, (iv) शारदा चक्रोपासना Sharada Chakra Upasana and (v) शारदा सहस्रनाम Sharada Sahasranama.

References and notes:-

(1) Kalhana was the 12th Century Historian, who wrote Kashmir history of about 5000 years from 46th year of 'Kali' Samvat.

(2) 'Hotar' is one who recites the Vedas at the Yajna. He is also called Vyasa and Chandra Taruk in Kashmir. Yajman for Vedic term purohitam one who makes offering Haler is a seat of learning.

(3) According to A.M. Stein, the German scholar who translated Rajatarangini into English language with elaborate research work tracing the ancient and medieval names of the towns and villages of Kashmir. The name given to Kalhana was Kalyana. Being the son of the minister of the contemporary king named Champak, who used the 'apabransh' derivation of the Sanskrit name Kalyana to Kalhana. Amazingly, he used the most modern mode of tracing the ancient history of Kashmir by referring to monuments addicts, engraved copper plates (Pattas), written accounts by contemporary writers, war chronicles, stone slabs fixed in the ancient temples where the historical details were recorded etc.

(4) Reference Devi Sukta of Rg Veda Sukta (a) Rishi Vak-Ambrini. Vak Ambhrini means one who is covered or dressed with sounds of words. Rishi Patanjali calls it 'Ritambara Prajna' i.e. the wisdom clothed in Truth also see Yoga Sutria Chapter-1)

(5) Mekhala is a very ancient Vedic Sanskara. Yajnopavit Sanskar was introduced by Rishi Vishwamitra after giving the mantra of Gayatri Chhanda-the Sun worship in the form of Gayatri, Savitri and Saraswati. Among Kashmiris Mekhla word is used to this day for the Sanskara.

(6) Refer to Durga Saptashati chapter 11 Shaloka 48. About the Tripura and Lalita Trimshati.
(Shasteika Deva Sharma Rishi appears to be the adept of the Tripura Upāsana as given by Dattatreya to Parshurama. Duttatreya was the son of Rishi Atri and half brother of Dūrvāsā Rishi. Both these were the worshippers of Jnana, Iccha and Kriya Shakti, in its sublimely as is referred to in the form of Tripura the mother of three worlds. Rishi Durvasa has also written Devi Mahimnapara. In the Devi Bhagwat Mahapurana the story of Hayagriva is elaborately given and also the prescribed Devi-Upasana. The Skand Mahapurana gives the detail of Hayagriva imparting the higher knowledge and practice of Shodashakshari in the form of Lalita Tripursundari, the Lalita त्रिंशती Trimshati and the Lalita Sahasranama. The Veda Vyasa has written the Markandeya-Purana, and the Durga Saptashati forms a part of it. It refers to the period of Sarvanik Manu, while the present period of the aeonic time is that of 'Vaivasvat Manu'. The reference of Gautam's invocation of Shri Durga needs therefore, be understood in the context of the change of Manvantara or is Deva Sharma's reference here to the one who gave Shandilya the Panchakshari Sharada Mantra? This is a matter of further research.

(7) This appears Shri Vyasa's tribute to the Vipras of Kashmir of that ancient age, recorded by him in the Sharada Mahatmyam.

(8) (Sharada script is one of the most ancient scripts a sister script of Brahmi script. This script has been is use in writing Sanskrit since antiquity. Unfortunately this precious script is getting lost and made redundant now. Only a couple of hundred Kashmiri Pandit know how to read and write the Sharada script presently.

(9) The Arabs took number digits from India in 8th century A.D. and called it Hindsa meaning "from Hindustan; from Arab the numbers travelled to Europe in the 9th century. Incidentally, the Arab numbers write zero as a dot.

(10) Some literary records show that Shri Adi Shankara lived in the 6th century B.C. Saint Ananda Giri gives the date 44-12 B.C. The western scholars give the date at late 8th century. (6) Shri Jyestha is one of the ten Mahavidyas is the symbol of horror and devastation form of the power of Shakti called Dhumavati. Jestheishwara Shiva is at the Shankara-chārya hill, historically known as Gopadari hill where Shiva temple was initially constructed by Raja Gopaditya whose place was at the base slope of the hill, which is presently named as Gupkar.

SYMBOL FORM AND CONCEPT OF PUJA PADHATI

The Nigama Scriptures (Vedas) and the Āgamā Scriptures (Tantra Karikās) have the unique way of expression in relation to form symbols and sounds. The Nigamās express the forms in words and Āgamas give them Symbols and Sounds. Thus the three principles make the whole method of recitation and the system of invoking the grace of One Truth in different forms, which the adepts work out according to their bent of mind, aptitude and state of development, under a Master-preceptor's direct guidance. The variances are surely there, in relation to time and place. Nevertheless, the aim, objective and the basics are one and the same.

Each form has a नाम name and रूप with an individual shape. The shape of the form is called Yantra. Its name is a वर्णात्मक ध्वनि स्पन्द sound and the sound is called मंत्र Mantra. The method that keeps the both Yantra and Mantra in proper manner and invokes grace in these, is adored as the Tantra Karika. Tantra is defined in these words:- ''तनुः त्रायते यत् तत्तन्त्रः'' "Tanūh Trāyatei Yat Tat Tantra". It means that 'what protects him, who takes abode in the physical body frame, is called Tantra. It is true with all forms in the universe, as all forms belong to the formless, that is unknown and unknowable, who is unmanifest, yet creates and gives proper systems and arrangements to the whole universe. The Veda describe: "The unmanifest as unknowable". (Refer to Rig. Veda Mandal 10 Nasdisi Sūkta). What is known is His cognizance – The self aware of itself, which comes out as a power and force called ज्ञानशक्ति Jnana Shakti. The knowledge, the luminance of the self luminent absolute never to be considered as one lamp lightning the other-the self luminent ever. This Mother Power is called Shri Saraswati; and Mother Sharada is a form of Shri Maha-Saraswati. The second volition of the unknowable is expressed as the Absolute 'will and desire' as described in the Vedic Mahāvākya- "एकोऽहं बुहस्याम" "Ekoham Bahusyamaha" i.e. I am One and let Me be many." Shrimad Bhagwadgita chapter 8 verse 3 describes the first volition as 'Adhyatma-Bhava' and the second volition as 'Bhuta-Bhava'. These two volitions combined are the word 'Aum', the Primal sound that work out the process of involution (devolution) in the form of Sharada Visargaha (:)— being the bi-polar universe. Hindu ethos describe it and believes in it, the Agamas also describe the God as the word in this manner:- "In the beginning there was the Naad-Brhrama and the word/Shabda was with Him, and the word was verily 'Vak'; and the God said-let there be the world and there was the world."

The primal word 'Aum' is the combination of three basic sounds in the form of three letters of alphabets denoting three powers called कारण त्रय— Karan Traya or the three causal forces or powers, viz. the power of creation, the power of sustenance, and the power of destroying. Whatever is created through the power of 'Will and Desire' may sustain for a period of time, yet it must be destroyed, is the Divine will, as being the cycle of involution. This scheme of things implies renovation and therefore, the changes are affected in a proper cyclic order. This issues the concept of rebirths and reincarnations and the processes of evolution, after the creation, which is the process of involution or evolution. In this way, the form, sound and process which help both to evolve, is the concept of Yantra, Mantra and Tantra.

The first ऋचा Richa of the Rig Veda reads as under:-

"अग्नि मीळे पुरोहितं यज्ञस्य देवमृत्विजम् होतारं रत्न धातमम्."

.... ऋग्वेद मण्डल १ऋचा१

Transliteration:-

Agnimīldei Pūrōhitam Yajnasya Devamrit-vīyam Hōtaram Ratna dadatam (Rg Veda Mandala 1 Rcha 1)

English Rendering:-

Through the invocation of Agni that carries the offerings to Devas, who when satisfied give back the gems (of knowledge and wisdom) to the performer of offerings, as well as to one who recites Mantras.

The Rig Veda begins with the word Agni, which literary means fire. This word is combination of the letters अ (a) + क् (k) + न (n) + इ (i). This word represents the first vowel sound (a) and the first consonant sound (k) of the Sanskrit alphabets which consist of 16 vowel sounds, 33 consonants and three compound consonants making a total of 16+33+3=52 sound letters of the alphabets which are in the scheme as under:-

16 vowels are अ (a), आ (ā), इ (i), ई (ī), उ (u), ऊ (ū), ऋ (r), ॠ (R), लृ (lr), ॡ (Lr), ए (e), ऐ (ai), ओ (o), औ (au), अं (m), or (n), अ: (h). These 16 vowels have one unit sound called ह्रस्व Hrasva, two unit sound called दीर्घ Dhirga and three unit sound called प्लुत Plut. All the vowels sounds have the names of 'Shakti Kalas' and a presiding Shakti called अमा (Āmā). The consonant letters are in this manner, in groups:-

(a) क् (k), ख् (kh), ग (g), घ् (gh), ङ् (n)-called Kavarga with Shaki KĀMĀ

(b) च् (t), छ् (ch), ज् (J), झ (jh), ञ (n)-called Chavarga with Shakti- चारु +अङ्गी=Charvangi

(c) ट् (t), ठ् (th), ड् (d), ढ् (Dh), ण (N)-called Tavarga with Shakti- टङ्कधारिणी

Note:-

Tankdharini (One who wears 'Ta', the Tankar or ड्यजिहोर Dejhuru (टङ्कधारिणी) – see the photo copy of the Sharada Murti at Sharadabal. These ear ornaments rest on the breast of Shri Sharada.

Kashmiri Hindu women wear Dejihore, hanging ear-ornament to this day. Adi

Shankaracharya praised the ear ornament of Shri Devi in this manner:- (Refer to Soundarya Lahiri Verse 28)

सुधामप्यस्वाद्य प्रतिभय जरामृत्यु हरिणीं,
विपद्यन्ते विश्वे विधिशतमखाद्या दिविषद:

English Rendering:-

O Mother! All the realms of the universe including their celestial inhabitants, the creative and other power forces, who drank nectar of life after अमृत मंथन—Amrit Manthana, which provides immunity from old age and death shall die and get destroyed ultimately at Mahapralaya. But Shambo-the Benign Shiva whose consort Shakti Thou art and who swallowed virulent poison at the time of Amrit Manthana, holding it at His throat, shall still remain to renovate the universe. It is verily, all due to the peculiar virtue of thy "Tatanka"- the ear ornament called Dejhoar in Kashmiri language.

Next are the following letters in their scheme:-

(d) त् (t), थ् (th), द (d), ध् (dh), न् (n)-called Tavarga with Shakti Tara.

(e) प् (p), फ् (ph), न् (b), भ् (bh), म् (m)-called Pavarga with Shakti Parvati.

(f) य् (y), र् (r), ल् (l), व् (v)-called Yavarga with Shakti Yakshini

(g) श् (ś), ष (sh), स् (s), ह (h)- with Shakti Shri Sharika as Chakreshevari at the Sharika Parvat where natural स्वयंभू शिला Svayambhu Shila, self-forming sacred rock exists.

Shri Chakra appears on a huge rock. It is called Shri Sharika Chakreshwari at the Sharika hill. It is a Siddha Peetha.

The compound consonants are क्+ष=क्ष, त्+र=त्र, ज्+ञ=ज्ञा ज्ञ k+s=ksa, t+r=tra, J+n=jṇa. ksha is recognized in the medulla pluxus called Ajna Chakra, thus making the alphabets of 50 letters. Each Matrika Shakti has a Shakti Peeth throughout the Indian spiritual triangle from Kashmir to Kerala and from Kerala to Kamrup—the modern Assam region. These Matrikas of fifty letters is called वर्णमाला Varnamala or the garland of letters the compound consonants ज्ञ Jna and त्र Tra are used in the यंत्र Yantra, मंत्र Mantra, तंत्र Tantra, ज्ञान Jnana, ज्ञेय Jneya ज्ञत्र jnatra etc. All these are pertaining to Divinity and the sublime wisdom. The total Mother sounds are 52. While fifty two weeks make up a year and 5+2 make up a week of seven days. We can count the moon phases of cresent moon 7 days half moon 7 days and full moon twice seven days which are the moon phases in the form of both rotation and revolution of the moon approximately in 28 days. Similarly, we can count the development of humans at both stages of pre natal and post natal, i.e. after birth periods in terms of 7 days, 7 months and seven years etc.

The मातृका Matrika sounds are inherent in the cerebro-spinal systems of the human body. These sound impulses work and regulate all the functions of human machine of different systems in different, motor and peripheral systems. The electro-magnetic sound waves have been deciphered by the modern science but the exact single sound is yet to be understood and heard of yet, but these are understood by the Yogis, who perceive their distribution in seven Chakras called grossly the seven nerve plexuses. The sublime sounds and Chakras are to be perceived in the mid channel of cerebro-spinal fluid. Both blood circulation and the nerve impulses sustain one another and become complementary to it; therefore, has relevance to the respiratory system which carries Prana – the vital air. The conditioning and control of the breathing rhythm of respiration is therefore, the first preliminary for all the varieties of Yoga systems. If science uses the Sanskrit sound alphabets in the machines, exact sound impulse might be understood and worked out.

All these 52 Matrika sounds are called Shri-Mata or Shri Sharada, the presiding deity whereof is said to be Shri Maharajni. (Refer to the first shloka of Shri Lalita Sahasranama, the first line of which says: "Shri Mata Shri Maharajni Shrimat Simhasaneshware".

"श्रीमाता श्रीमहाराज्ञी श्रीमत् सिंहासनेश्वरी" श्री ललितासहस्रनाम (Verse1)

The knowledge of Matrika Shakti is necessary in श्रीशारदा अर्चना—the Shri Sharada Archana. Before doing the Archana, न्यास Nyasa is essential. अङ्गन्यास Anga Nyasa, करन्यास Kara Nyasa, अर्न्तमातृका न्यास Antar Matrika Nyasa and बहिर्मातृकान्यास Bahir Matrika Nyasa are given in the Archna Paddhati. Matrika Puja is performed on the 9th month of Paush Sankranti in Kashmir. This Puja is performed throughout India as "Shashti Puja".

As is known, each Matrika sound has a कला Kala (digit) called Shakti Kala. Each शक्तिकला Shakti Kala has its meaningful name. It is therefore, valuable for the adepts if the names of each Matrika are recorded here.

Matrika kala names (vowels)

अ (a) = निवृत्तिकला Nivriti kala, आ (ā) = प्रतिष्ठा Pratishtha, इ (i) = Vidya ई (ī) Shanti, उ (u) = Indika, ऊ (ū) = Dipika, ऋ (r) = Mochika, ॠ (R) = Para, ऌ (l) = Sūkshonā, ॡ (l) = Sūkshmatarā, ए (e) = Jnanamritā, ऐ (ai) = Āpyāyani, ओ (o) = Vyapini, औ (au) = Vyomrūpā, अं (m, an) = Ananta, अः (h or Aha) = Srishti. Total 16 Matrikas.

Note:-
Refer to Shrimad Bhagwad Gita chapter 8 verse 3.

Where it reads:- "Bhavakara Visargaha(:) Abhidiyata". the visarga (:) denotes bi-polar creation. The Sanskrit word for creation is Srishti (सृष्टि)

MATRIKA KALA names for Consonants

क् (k) = Rdhi, ख् (kh) = Smriti, ग् (g) = Mēdha घ् (Gh) Kānti, ङ (n) = Lakshmi, च् (ch) = Dyuti, छ् (Ch) = Sthira, ज् (J) = Sthiti, झ् (jh) = Siddhi, ञ् (n) = Jada, ट् (t) = Palinī, ठ् (th) = Shānti, ड् (d) = Aishwarya, ढ (dh) = Rati, ण् (N) = Kāmikā, त् (t) = Varda, थ् (th) = Ahlādinī, द् (d) = Prītih, ध् (dh) = Dīrgha, न् (n) = Tīkshanā, प् (p) = Raudri, फ् (ph) = Bhaya, ब् (b) = Nidra, भ् (bh) = Tandra, म् (M) = Kshuda, य् (y) = Krodhinī, र् (r) = Kriya, ल् (l) = Utkarī, व् (v) = (1) Mrutyurupā (2) Chandrakala, श् (ś) = Pīta, ष् (s) = Shevēta, श्वेता, स् (s) = Asita, ह् (h) = Ananta. Vowels = 16, consonants = 33. Total 49 plus 3 compound consonants क्ष, त्र, ज्ञ. In all are 52 Matrikas. Since क्ष is conceived in the अज्ञाचक्र Ajna chakra the 50 Matrikas are calculated in the Matrika Kalas. The remaining two त्र, ज्ञ Tra and Jna are to be deciphered in the योगक्रिया Yoga Kriya of discipline.

According to the Shaivagamas, popularly called Kashmir Shaivism, there are 94 kalas from Sadashiva to the material worlds. Since अव्यक्त-अक्षर Avekta Akshara—the unmanifested indivisible is निरञ्जन Niranjana-the One beyond form and name रूपातीत, शान्तातीत—Rūpatita and Shāntatita in realization. He is even beyond peace and tranquillity, which are within the scope of the volitions in the form of अध्यात्मभव, Adhyatma Bhava, भूतभव Bhuta Bhava and विसर्ग Visargaha as ज्ञानशक्ति Jnāna Shakti, इच्छा शक्ति Iccha Shakti and क्रियाशक्ति Kriyā Shakti respectively. These are manifest in the Matrika Kalas as named above. The other Kalas are:-

(a) Sadashiva Kalas = 19
(b) Ishwara Kalas = 6
(c) Rudra Kalas = 11
(d) Vishnu Kalas = 10
(e) Brahma Kalas = 10
(f) Surya Kalas = 12
(g) Chandra Kalas = 16
(h) Agni Kalas = 10

KALAS as Samvit Kala

Total Kalas = 94

Out of these Ninety four Kalas, Matrika Kalas are 50 plus the two to be deciphered.

In all these 94 Kalas, the names of Matrika Kalas exist and remain distributed in each of these.

All these Kalas are invoked in a pitcher called 'Kalasha' half filled with water before Puja-Archana or Yajna. This Kalasha itself becomes स्वयं संवित् कला Svayama Samvit Kala (the self generating power) as described in the "Yogini Hridaya Tantra", as hereunder:-

"Disha-Kala Padarthatma Yat Yat Vastum Yatha Yatha, Tad Tad Rupena Ya Bhati Tam Shrayén Samvidam Kalam.

''दिशा-काल पदार्थात्मा यत् यत् वस्तुं यथा यथा तद् तद् रूपेण या भाति तं श्रेयंसंविदं कलाम् ''
.... योगिनी हृदय

English Rendering:-
According to the consideration of time and place, whatever available material substances (in addition to water) are put into the कलश Kalasha, it becomes useful for the purpose of invocation and these become 'Samvit Kala'. The materials are prescribed in the Agamas.

This implies that वाममार्गी—Vama Margis of Tantra Kārikās put wine into the Kalasha, which is already half filled with water, while as दक्षिणमार्गी Dakshana Margis put milk and कन्द Qand – the sugar candy in the shape or form of Shivalinga into the Kalasha. In the Kashmir tradition, walnuts are put into the Kalasha in addition to water and the Kalasha is covered with छत्र Chatra or crown made of leaf branches of herb called सर्वौषधि Sarvoshadi and flowers etc. The Hindus of the other parts of India use rice grains, barley and flowers and cover the Kalasha with a coconut.

Note:-

For the names of the 94 Kalas including Matrika Kalas, we need to refer to "Saubhagya Ratnākara." Basically Kalas belong to the forces of creation, sustenance and destruction (the power of withdrawal for renovation) called सृष्टिकला Srishti Kala, स्थिति कला Sthiti Kala and संहार कला Samhār Kala respectively. 50 Matrika Kalas are within these Kalas as counted and listed above from सदाशिव Sadashiva to अग्निकला Agni Kalas. Beyond Sadashiva is परमशिव Param Shiva-Avyekta Akshara –which is revered as रूपातीत 'Rupatita and शान्तातीत Shantatita'— the One beyond form and name, in the Shaivagamās. All have reach upto Adhyatma Bhava. As such the Rig Veda say in the नासदीय सूक्त Nasdiyia Suktas that even Pūrvas-the powers of creation, sustenance and destruction who are named Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva respectively, do not know anything about unmanifested Brahman, because they manifested later and are the creation of the Shakti who is called श्रीमाता 'Shri Mata' – the Power Matrix, because she created these power forces. This is the Mother conception of the Divine.

को अदा वेद क इह प्रवोचत् कुत आजाताकुत इयं विसृष्टि
अर्वाग्-देवा अस्य विसर्जनेनाथ को वेद यत आबभूव

ऋग्वेद म. 1 सूक्त 125-6 ऋचा

In this context, Sri Aurobindo calls it "unknowable" in the Savitri.

At the very outset, it needs to be understood that the Visargaha (:) the bi-polar, or three dimensional universe is the process of involution, as a process of शुद्धाशुद्ध मिश्रित विद्या Shudha Ashudha Mishrit-Vidya-the worlds of relativity is good and bad; and the man, the epitome of the universe, the finale of the process of evolution is the combination of both good and bad, truth and untruth static and ever changing principle; and the man is free to choose his/her destination and goal of life. To be spiritual is to choose the path to freedom or otherwise the path to seek pleasures in the junk of relativity and remain in the whirl of coming to and going from the earth with these surges of pleasures and relative pain.

For those, who choose the path divine, the life of self imposed taboo and the life of discipline is the pre-requisite. Upright behaviour in all activities is necessary for a truly devoted adept. Such a one is शक्ति संवित युक्तः and should be man of conscience believing that the Omnipresent and Omnipotent Divine is the witness to his/her activity, though he or she is unaware of it. One who fears the Divine and surrenders completely as a devout in love supreme is free from fear of whatsoever kind. Such devotees are true worshippers. They may choose any method of Puja, Archana, concentration, contemplation, meditation, Mantra Japa-any of these will surely lead to the same goal.

The Sharada Archana, Chakra puja, सहस्रनाम-स्तवराज Sahasranama Stvaraja are the parts of the Sharada Panchanga and are given in the next chapter as per the available old manuscripts.

SHARADA PANCHANGA
A Historical Perspective

Sharada Panchānga is Tantrik in nature and is recorded in the form of narration by Bhairava to his Bhairavi with a view to reveal the secrets of the methods for the general good of mankind with the injunction that only the devotees who are upright and have full control over their minds should be imparted this knowledge. Unless it is given in गुरु-शिष्य परम्परा Guru-Shishya Parampara, it does not give the complete and full results or otherwise it might be misused. The real devotees pray and worship without desiring fruit thereof.

Sharada Panchanga is a part of Rudrayamla Tantra. Bhawani Sahasranama is also a part of Rudrayamala Tantra, wherein Tripurabhairavi is the presiding deity. It is very popular among Kashmiri Pandits and is recited during Navadurga days, and including all Hawan-Yajna Swahakars. Similarly "Parama Devi Sukta" is the part of Uddameshwara Tantra.

The period of Tantra Shastras involving Bhairava form of Shiva is believed to have beginning in the second century B.C. and remained very popular upto the 12th century A.D. It started degenerating and became occult as it limited itself to the 'Putlika Rahasya' of Sharada Tilaka or such Siddhis which were used to harm others rather than the general good. People are by and large attracted to miracles which in truth cause hindrances rather than help in the path Divine.

History of India reveals that during the period of King Kanishka, Buddhism was divided into two cults: (i) Hinyāna and (ii) Mahayāna. Within a short period of time, the Mahayānā cult was further divided into Mantrayana and Vajrayana cults. Both Mantrayana and Vajrayana cults reverted to the Tantrik Kriya for Siddhis in due course of time. On the other hand, the devotees of Shaivagamas and Shaktagamas of Rishi Durvasa and Dattatreya who adapted सहज साधना Sahaj Sadhana of Nath Panthi Yogis from Shiva Guru, Adi Nath, Matsyendra Nath Gorakhnath who have 84 Siddhas in lineage and whom the Mantrayana and Vajrayana Buddhists call their own, as well in due course of time reverted to the cults of अघोर Aghora, कापालिक Kapaliks and कालमुख Kalamukhs. They too took up the Tantrik Kriya of Siddhis. Those who became more interested in the 'Putlika Rahasya' of 'Sharada Tilak' used their Siddhis for मारण Māran, मोहन Mohana, उच्चाटन Ucchatana, स्तम्बण Stambhana etc. lured ignorant masses to these harmful uses. Ashta Siddhis are known as Vedic विभूति Vibhutis and help goodness and life of self-discipline, while as the मंत्र सिद्धि Mantra Siddhis of low grade forces result in harmful results. Siddhis hamper the progress towards self realization and their results are ultimately self destructive. Shri Krishna describes this beautifully in the Shrimadhagwadgita.

यान्ति देवव्रता देवान्पितॄन्यान्ति पितृव्रताः।
भूतानि यान्ति भूतेज्या यान्ति मद्याजिनोऽपि माम्

Yanti Devavrāta Dēvān, Pitruyānti Pitruvsatā, Bhutani yānti Bhutējya, yānti Madyajnopi Mām.

Those who worship Devas go to the realm of Devas; those who worship their forefathers go to their realm. Those who invoke apparition and Devas of low order go to their realm; but those who worship Me as Adhyatma reach my realm of Adhyatma Bhawa.

(B.G. Chapter 9 verse 25)

It is not that the invocation and worship of भूत-पिशाच-भैरव Bhutas, Pishachas, Bhairavas and other destructive type was unknown in the Vedic period of India, this was quite known and popular among असुर—Asuras, राक्षस Rakshas and दानव Danavas who used these आसुरी शक्ति/anti-divine powers to harm others. These were, however, opposed by Rishis - saints and seers, who patronized kings and rulers to destroy such a lot. Asuras migrated to other places outside India under their tribal heads विरोचन "Virochana" and मयदानव Mayadanava and established their own culture outside India.

The Vedas give vivid accounts of the struggle between those who were given to the spiritual life and those who practised these मायावी—anti divine methods of destruction.

As we know from the Sharada Mahatmyam of Adi Purana, the Brahmins of Kashmir were in great esteem as said by Rishi Bhārdwāja in the assembly of the Rishis at the Shri Shaila. It should therefore, be evident that the Kashmir Upasana Paddhati is very ancient and continues to be an exalted system of Puja Archana and Havana Yajna; not withstanding the modification from time to time, which is very obvious now.

The other upheaval was during the Muslim rule of Sikandar Butshikan who affected wholesale destruction of Hindu Shrines and places of worship. His son Shahikhan who became the king with the title of Zain-ul-Abdin got the Brahmins back and resettled them through the good offices of Shri Bhat, who cured the king Zain-ul-Abdin, who was afflicted with some incurable disease, and as a reward Shri Bhat demanded the return of Kashmir Brahmins to the valley and their resettlement.

Kashmiri Brahmins have still finer methods of Upasana and Karmkanda Paddhati. They must perpetuate it for themselves and the general good. There have been a galaxy of saints and seers during the yesteryears, whose sayings and doing if followed, rightly paves the way to realize the Sat-Chit-Anand. A real scriptural writing has the prerequisites viz., it should be the writing of a Rishi. It should be written in the recognized meter called छन्द Chhanda, a Vedic Chhanda and it must pertain to देवता Devata, the celestial beings, not and never to any मानव Manava—the human being. The axiom is ऋषि-छन्द-देवता वेदनाम देयम् "Rishi-Chhanda Devata Veda nama Deyam". Only that writing is called the Scriptural knowledge which has the name of Rishi, name of the Chhanda (meter) and name of the Devata. Fortunately, the Sharada Sahsranama is all based on the scriptural injunctions.

Wonder! it is that we have much sufficient scriptural records. Only if we could learn a portion of it and give some time for practice. The time is not far behind when what is presently called mythology will be known as history, and what presently we call rituals, will be considered the essentials for Divine grace. The Puranic literature is full of allegorical stories and events described in parables. It needs digging deep by the readers to arrive at the wisdom hidden in the stories. Shakti Upasana is described vividly in the Adi Purana, Brahmanda Purana, Markandeya Purana, Brahma Purana, Skanda Purana, Devi Bhagwatam and Tripura Rahasyam.

SHRI SHARADA UPASANA & ARCHANA

ॐ श्री देव्यै नमः ॐ अधुना यद्वतिं वक्ष्येशारदाचर्न संयुतां गद्य पद्यमयी गोप्यां सकलागम निश्चितां प्रातः कृत्यम् कृत्वा तयो देवीं भक्तितोर्चयेत् तस्य पूजातुविफला शोचहीना यथा क्रिया

English Rendering:-

Aum! Salutation to Shri Devi! Aum! Now is described in full detail the Archana of Shri Sharada in both prose and verses as approved by all Agamas. It should be fully guarded and imparted only to the genuine devotees. After morning स्नान-संध्या activities of cleansing, bathing and twilight prayer, the 'Puja Archana' should be performed. For those who are not pure in body and mind, this अर्चना Archana would cause harm and would not be fruitful, as revealed in the scripture.

How to perform Archana

First of all, one should choose a clean place, where 'Archana' is performed without any disturbance. Those devotees who are not able to perform daily Archana, can choose Sundays, full moon days (Purnima), half moon days (Ashtami) Sankranti (when the Sun enters the new zodiac sign and the auspicious days like Guru Purnima, Shravan Purnima, Mahakali Ashtami (Pousha Ashtami), Janama Ashtami (Shri Krishna birth day), Ganga Ashtami and other auspicious days. Those who do not have enough space in their places of residence can perform in Ashrmas and river banks etc.

Traditionally the सामग्री Samagri and the विनियोग methodology is the same as in Kashmiri Hindu system of शोडषोपाचार Shodashopchar Puja Archana and the कलश-स्थापना Kalash Sthapana. A seat for the image of Sharada Devi should be arranged by placing a Murti or its photograph or Chakra Diagram or a pot with the mark of sandal paste सिंदूर Vermillion, wherein Shri Sharada is invoked. The performers seat स्वर्णरजत-आसन (Asana) should be kept at a convenient distance, wherefrom the hand reaches upto the Sharada seat. The flowers and other ingredients—the oil or clarified butter lighted lamp and the Dhupa and or incense sticks on the left near the Kalasha in line with the seat for Shri Sharada, A big pitcher in which the water is to be poured and a pot filled with water and other materials used in Archana and नैवेद्य Naivedya offerings should be handy for the performer. After checking all the needed items, the performer sits in front of the deity and invokes self purification by reciting the पवित्रीकरण मंत्र purification Mantra:

ॐ अपवित्रः पवित्रो वा सर्वावस्थितागतोऽपि वा
यः स्मरेत पुण्डरीकाक्षं सः बाह्याभ्यन्तरः शुचिः

English Rendering:-

Whether clean or unclean, in whatever condition the body and mind may be the performer, who utters the name Pundrikaksha-the name of the Sustainer of the worlds, called Shri Vishnu, becomes clean physically as well as mentally.

After this purification the seat of performer is purified by विनियोग Viniyoga, invocation and न्यास-Nyasa placement. (Pouring water to the right palm with fingers slanted down wards letting the water to fall into the broad pot थाली, placed in front of the performer).

अथ विनियोग: ॐ अस्य आसन शोधन मन्त्रस्य मेरूपृष्ट ऋषि:, सुतलं छन्द:, कूर्मोदेवता आसन शोधने विनियोग:

English Rendering: - The performer recites –

"I invoke the purification of my seat by the purifying Mantra, the Rishi whereof is Meruprishta, which has the Vedic meter called Sutala, and the Presiding Deity of the Mantra is Kurma (That takes abode in the heart region)".

अथ न्यास: - Touching the body parts while reciting the Mantra:-

ॐ मेरू पृष्ट ऋषये नम:, शिरसि Salutaion to Meruprishta Rishi – the performer touches the head with both hands while saying the Mantra."

सुतलं छन्दसे नम: मुखे Salutation to the Sutala meter (touch the mouth region while saying the Mantra).

कूर्मो देवताय नमः, हृदि: Salutation to Kurmadevata (touch the heart region with both hands while reciting the Mantra)

आसन शोधने, सर्वाङ्गेषु Salutation to Asan Shodhan Mantra (touch and make passes with both hands from the head to feet while reciting the Mantra to purify the whole body). Then invoke the grace of the Mother earth:-

ॐ प्रीं पृथव्यै आधार शक्त्यै समालभनं गन्धो नमः, अर्घोनमः पुष्प नमः Invocation of the Mother earth by the Mantra 'Prīm' and then marking the place in the front with Sandal Paste or the vermilion and cover it with rice grains, flowers and then with folded hands recite the Mantra:

पृथ्वी त्वया दृता लोकाः त्वं च विष्णुनादृता, त्वंच धारय मां देवी पवित्र कुरु च आसनम्

"O Mother Earth! You are holding all the substances – life and material in proper cyclic order for the good atmosphere and you have been held in a perfect system, order and balance by Shri Vishnu, the lord of sustenance. Pray! Maintain the purity of my seat, while I perform Puja. I invoke your grace," says the Performer.

The performer thus reminds about the need of atmospheric purity. He/she makes a resolve and seeks permission in regard to his performance without any hindrance whatsoever with faith and devotion.

Take some rice grains, a flower and three bits of Durba/Kusha grass or turf branches in the right hand and then make the resolve by reciting the following Mantra:

ॐ विष्णुर्विष्णुविष्णु! श्रीमत्भगवतो महा पुरुषस्य विष्णुराज्ञाया प्रवर्तमानस्य अद्य ब्रह्मणो द्वितीयपरार्धे श्री श्वेत वाराह कल्पे वैवस्वत मन्वन्तरे अष्टाविंशति तमे, कलियुगे कलिप्रथम चरणे अमुक द्वीपे (जम्बु द्वीपे), अमुक देशान्तरगते (आर्यावर्तैक देशान्तरगते) अमुक नाम्न क्षेत्र (जम्मु नगरे) बौद्धावतारे अस्मिन वर्तमाने अमुक नाम संवत्सरे (विकारी नाम संवत्सरे अमुक मासे अमुक पक्षे अमुक विथौ अमुक वासरे अमुक गोत्रः अमुक नाम्नः स्वामिन् गौतम,देव पाराशर, भवकापिष्टल, दत्तात्रेय, कण्ठधौम्यायन अहं श्री शारदार्चनं करिष्ये)

English Rendering:-

"Aum uttering the name of Shri Vishnu-Paramatma (Adhyatama Bhava) the best among Purushas- in the existence of the worlds the present period be the Brahma (creator) second half of the day, wherein the present age is the time of the white-boar representing mammalian age, the name of the Sun being Vaivasvan indicating the twenty-eight deluges (the night of Brahma the creator) having already passed and gone and the pre-period of time being called Kaliyuga and its first quarter time presently, calculated in the lunar calendar in terms the names of years. The date of birth of Bhagwan Budha this year bears the name 'vikari', I (giving the name of the city, country and the place of my present abode with the name of month and date and day according to lunar calendar today as the month of Phalguna, the dark fort night 10th day i.e. 12th February 2007 Monday) born in – gotra belonging to Brahmin caste or any Varna, start the Shri Sharada Archna. The word 'Amuk' stands for exact mention of reference to place time and ancestry.

However the antiquity of resolution making is note worthy. The personal resolve has a very great potency, as it weighs upon the human psyche and boosts the faith and devotion of the aspirant devotees.

Reminding one's self about the antiquity of time and ever existent life, in whatever way in the solar systems, the age of the creator which is infinite, the one who understands that his life is not limited to his present realm only, but reminds us about the vision of the Rishis who advised to revere the Mother earth and make it conducive for healthy life of humans and other species as also how much harm is already done by polluting the waters and imbalancing the atmospheric purity for petty personal gains which ultimately leads to the destruction of ecology.

After making the resolve, the performer should tie a knot in his hair at Brahmrandra and then mark his forehead with Sandal paste or vermilion or Bhasma (the sacred ash) reciting the following Mantra:

परमात्मने पुरुषोत्तमाय सर्वमंत्र नाथाय आत्मनि नारायणाय
आधार शक्त्यै समालभनं गन्धो नमः, अर्घो नमः च पुष्पं नमः

English Rendering:-

The Performer says— "I mark my forehead in between my eyebrows, with sweet smelling paste invoking the grace of Parmatma (the Adyhatma Bhava), the best among the dwellers in my body frame. It is He, who illumines the life principle as a reflection in the mirror and is clearly visible in between the eyebrows at the centre, seen as the rainbow multicoloured luminance with the silver line circle around and a flame in the centre. Verily, it is my real self here now seen, who takes abode in the midst of my eyebrow as Narayana, the basic power of my existence, visible to me during the periods of my contemplation, . when the mind attains calm and the ego is elimininated. I offer flowers and rice grains at my head, inside which the fifty two Mother-sounds exist in various settings and workout the scheme of my interior physical systems through impulses of the combinations and permutations of sounds moving in white and red streams like the webs stretched through my interior and the whole body frame of head torso and limbs and remain ever at work."

Thereafter, the performer marks with Tilak (sandal paste or vermilion) outside of the 'lamp' lighted on his right side, in line with the seat of Shri Sharada, and also puts rice, grain and flowers there, while reciting this mantra:-

स्वप्रकाशो महादीपः सर्वतः तिमिरोऽपहः
प्रसीद मम गोविन्द दीपोऽयं परिकल्पितः

English Rendering:-

"O Govinda! That you take your abode in me, as the inner-self, in the form of the lamp flame ever dispelling the darkness of ignorance, and I conceive it as the lighted flame of this oil lamp here outside too. Pray, let this grace of my perception remain ever established!"

Then the performer marks the place with Tilak and offers rice grains and flowers covering the mark of Tilak at the place, where the incense remains burning at the left side in line with the seat of Shri Sharada near the Kalasha/sanctified pot, and say this Mantra:-

आग्रेय सर्व देवाणां धूपोऽयं परिकल्पित:

English Rendering:-

"This incense is derived from the compound essence of the aromatic herbs and formed into the best fragrance going around for all the Devas – the celestial ones, with such concept, I burn the incense here."

Then the performer sprinkles Tilak and also puts rice grains and flowers into the broad pot in which the water is poured with the right hand and which is called निर्माल्य पात्र Nirmalya pot. This offering is to Surya—the Devata, which is physical Sun. The following Mantra is recited while offering the Tilak and rice grains and flowers. After this offering is made the right hand is stretched in the manner as said and done at the time of विनियोग 'Viniyoga" and water is poured from the water pot held in the left hand while reciting the next mantra for Tilak offerings.

ॐ नमो धर्म निधानाय नमः सुकृतसाक्षिने,
नमः प्रत्यक्षदेवाय भास्कराय नमो नमः

English Rendering:-

"Salutations to the source of light to the earth and that power which keeps everything duty-bound, who is witness to our deeds, the only Deva who can be perceived with physical eyes."

''यत्रास्ति माता न पिता न बन्धुः भ्रातापि यत्र न सुहृत जनस्य, न ज्ञायते यत्र दिनो न रात्रि तत्र आत्मदीपं शरणं प्रपद्ये आत्मनि नारायणाय धूपदीपः संकल्पः सिद्धिरस्तु धूपो नमः दीपं नमः ''
(Pouring water through right hand)

English Rendering:-

"Where none accompanies—neither mother nor father, no relatives-brothers, sisters, well wishers and none at all, where there is neither day nor night conceived, at that abode one should take refuge in the luminance of the SELF. May Narayana-the self established form in my perception of the flame of the lamp with the fragrance of the incense, be in my body and mind as it is here outside me in physical self as visible!"

After this, the further offerings of water to the Sun with the different names as given below:-

ॐ भास्कराय नमः, आदित्याय नमः, मित्राय नमः, पूषाय नमः भगाय नमः, खगाय नमः, सवित्रे नमः सहस्ररश्मि आरूढाय प्रभासहिताय वैवस्वाताय नमः, ह्रां ह्रीं सः सूर्याय मार्तण्डभैरवाय नमः, रवाय प्रकाशशक्ति सहिताय तेजो रूपाय नमः

Transliteration:-

AUM Bhaskaraya Namah, Adityaya Namah, Mitraya Namah, Pushaya Namah, Bhagaya Namah, Khagaya Namah, Savitei Namah, Sahasra rashmi Arudhaya prabhasahitaya vawaswataya Namah, Hrim Hrim saha suryaya Martanda Bhairawaya Namah, Ravaya prakash Shakti Shitaya Tejorupaya Namah.

After offering water to the Sun, if the performer wishes, intends and likes to offer water to his parents and maternal parents (three generations each), and, if he wears the sacred thread called Yajnopavita, he has to change the position of the thread from right arm to his left arm and say अपसव्येन "Apasavena" while changing the sacred thread position. If one does not wear the sacred thread he/she has to change the body posture to वीरासन 'Veerasana' to keep left leg folded while raising the right leg knee folded upwards and foot on the आसन Asana. While doing this he/she has to say अपसव्येन Apsavina. The right hand should be kept stretched and slanted towards thumb region so that the water goes down to the pot through his thumb. Name of Gotra should be added to the name of the deceased to whom the water is offered. For example:- If the name of the deceased is Mukunda and Gotra is Duttatreya he should say Mukund Dattatreya or if she is a woman then one should say Zoon Mali Devi Gautami. For the deceased, after each offering one should say जलं स्वधा Jalam Swadha, meaning that the water may become ambrosia for the dead in whatever realm he/she is.

Similarly, if one wants to offer water to Adi Rishis and Saptarshis, one has to wear the sacred thread in the neck and holding it in between his right hand thumb and forefinger and slant the hand towards the opposite side so that the water falls from the side, below the little finger.

कण्ठोपवीती स्वाहा ऋषिभ्य:- Kanthapaviti Swaha Rishbhyaha:- "I offer water to the Rishis after keeping the sacred thread in the neck held between the thumb and fore finger of the right hand saying the name of the Rishi with the word स्वाहा 'Swaha'."

All the Rishis be satisfied with this water offering.

After doing these preliminaries, the performer puts his attention to the seat of Shri Sharada offering flowers.

ॐ गां गूं गणेशाय नम: Aum Gam Gum Ganeshaya Namah offer a flower on the front of the seat invoking seat for Shri Ganesha (The 15th vowel is the nasal sound called अनुनासिक Anunasik. It is also the carrier of the sound of मात्रा बीज-मंत्र Matra Bija Mantras, as such, it is called Anuswara. In Sanskrit language and Devanagari Script it is written as ँ or Chandra Bindu the one digit moon and a dot ँ. It gives the nasal sound written as n or m. This will be half in pronouncing the exact sound).

After this offering of flowers to the four corners of the Asana (seat) of Shri Sharada saying the following Mantras:

(i) ॐ क्षां ह्रीं चटुकाय नमः पूर्वे- Aum Ksham Hrim Chatukaya Namah Purve, offer a flower at the Eastern corner. (Upwards)

(ii) ॐ क्षां क्षेत्रपालाय नमः दक्षिणे- Aum Ksham Kshetrapalaya Nama Dakshine, offer a flower to the Southern Corner of the seat (to your right side down)

(iii) ॐ यां यू योगिनीभ्यो, नमः पश्चिमे- Aum Yam Yum Yoginibhyo Namah Pashchime– western corner (down) to your left offer a flower.

ॐ आं आधार शक्त्ये नमः Aum Adhar Shaktyai Namah, offer a flower at the seat अं अनन्ताय नमः An Anantaya Namah – offer a flower.

पद्माय नमः Padmaya Namah – offer a flower.

Padmanilaya Namah – offer a flower

Then take some rice grains in the right hand and throw these behind you from left shoulder and then from right shoulder three times while reciting the following Mantra:

ॐ अपसर्पन्तु ते भूत: प्रेता पिशाचा राक्षसादिश्च अपसर्पन्तु ते सर्वे विघ्नकर्तार: देव्यास्त्रेण प्रताडिता:

English Transliteration:-

Aum Apsarpantu Tei Bhuta Preita pishacha Rakshasadi Vignakartara Apsarpantu sarvei Devyastreina pratadita.

English Rendering:-

All the malign forces, earth bound ones, Pishachas, Rakshasas and all such ones, who create obstacles, in this Archana are herewith destroyed by the powers of Shri Devi's forces.

Invocation of the grace of Shri Ganesha, the dispeller of the obstacles, whatsoever, it may be.

शुक्लांबरधरं विष्णुं शशिवर्णं चतुर्भुंज प्रसन्न वदनं ध्याये सर्वविघ्नोपशान्तये. अभिप्रीतार्थ सिद्धयर्थ: पूजितो य: सुरैरपि सर्वविघ्नत्छिदे तस्मै श्री गणाधिपतये नम:

Transliteration:-

Shukalambar dharma Vishnum Shashi varnam chaturbhujam prasanna vadanam dyayeit sarva vignopshantayer. Abhi prityarth siddhyartham Pujito yasurairapi Sarva vignacchide tasmai Shri ganadipatyei Namah.

English Rendering:-

"I"- meditate for the removal of obstacles, on that form of Vishnu, who is of the colour of moon-light, having four arms, smiling face and who wears white clothes. For obtaining his grace, the other Devas (divinities) too worship Him. I bow to that Lord of the celestial forces. May He remove all the hindrances and obstacles!

After invoking the grace of Shri Ganesha, Guru's grace needs to be invoked in these prayers:-

(1) अखण्ड मण्डलाकारं व्याप्तं येन चराचरं।
तत्पदं दर्शितं येन तस्मै श्री गुरवे नमः 1

(2) नमामि सद्गुरुं शान्तं प्रत्यक्षं शिवरूपिणम्।

(2) Namami Sadgurum shantama pratyaksham Shivarupinam Shirasa yogapeethastham Dharma Kamartha Siddhayei.

English Rendering:-

(1) The whole universe is a continuous process rounded up as elliptic oval in form and shape, wherein exist all, moving and stationary substances. I bow to my Master Preceptor, who enabled me to perceive this whole within me, as well as outside me.

(2) I bow to my Master who is the embodiment of peace and tranquillity, doubtlessly visible form of Shiva. I contemplate and meditate on the form at the Yoga Peetha in my head region, which is the spot for contemplation and meditation. Doubtlessly, the devotee is able to do all his duties in the world, as well as, develop in the Divine path through the grace of his true Master. I bow to my Guru with folded hands. I bow to my Guru's Guru. I bow to my great Grand Guru and to Him who has initially initiated this Guru Parampara.

Original Mantra in Sanskrit:-

ॐ गुरवे नमः, परं गुरवे नमः, परापरगुरवेनमः, परमेष्ठिने गुरवे नमः

Transliteration:-

Aum Gurve Namah, Param Guruve Namah, Parapar Gurve Namah, Parmeshthine Gurve Namah.

अथ श्री शारदाभगवती पूजा विनियोगःङ्क Now Shri Sharada Bhagwati Puja Viniyoga: Offer water with right hand towards fingers while reciting Mantra:-

अथ षड्ंग न्यास: Atha Shadanga Nyasa. Now Nyasa of Six parts of body.

(1) अं ॐ आं हृदयादि नम: Am Aum Am Hridayadi Namah. Touch your heart region with your both purified hands, while reciting Nyasa.

(2) इं ॐ ईं शिरसे स्वाहा Im Aum Iim Shirsei Swahaha. Touch your Head with both hands while reciting Nyasa.

(3) उं ॐ ऊं शिखायै वषट Um Aum Uum Shikayai Vashat. Touch the place of Head where hairlock is kept while reciting.

(5) एं ॐ ऐं, नेत्रत्रयाय, वौषट् eM Aum aim Netratrayai Vaushat. Touch the eyes with fingers keeping middle finger in between the eyebrows while reciting Nyasa.

(6) ओं ॐ औं अस्त्राय, फट् Om Aum Aoum Astryaya Phat. Strike two palms of hands making sounds thrice and the twist your fingers with thumb making sound three times while reciting Nyasa Mantra. The colour of lotus petal is to be visualized as red, in these Nyasas.

Now मातृका अर्न्तन्यास Matrika Antar Nyasa is to be performed. This Nyasa is the inner contemplation of touching mentally the regions of six nerve plexuses within which are six Chakras of the lotuses on each petal whereof is a matrices sound. Fifty Matrices sounds are distributed from base of the vertebra to the medulla oblangeta, which connects the brain with spinal cord. The web of nervous system is spread in the whole body and this cerbro-spinal system do all activities of afferent and efferent in motor and peripheral activities.

अथ अन्तर मातृका न्यासः Atha Antar Matrika Nyasa.

Now the Matrika Nyasa within the body of the performer as per practice:-

ॐ वं शं षं सं, नमः मूले (मूलाधार चक्रः) Aum Vam, Sham Sham Sam Namah Muley. Touch Muladhara—the basal plexus at the coxageal (the tail bone) by both hands while reciting the sounds (refer to the Alphabets for exact sounds). The four letter lotus called Muladhara is conceived in the Sushumna-the spinal cord which issues forth the nerve plexuses from vertebral column in the regions of the human thorax. In the Matrika Nyasa, one has to go up from base upwards conceiving the Chakra lotuses on each petal—a sound letter is mentally conceived from left to right clock wise like. This is done while touching the region with hands and mentally conceiving the Chakra while reciting the sounds mentally. Muladhara Chakra is the lotus of red colours.

louts where in each Matrika sound of each petal is current. Going clock-wise while conceiving and reciting the Nyasa mentally. The colour of स्वाधिष्ठान चक्र Swadhishthan louts petal is deep red.

ॐ डं ढं णं तं थं दं धं नं पं फं, नमः मणिपुरे Aum, Dam, Dham, Nam, Tam, Tham, Dam Dham, Nam, Pam, Pham Namah Manipure. Touch the Navel region conceiving ten petal blue coloured lotus on each petal, whereof is the sound letter, should go clock wise, while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

ॐ कं खं गं घं ङं चं छं जं झं ञं टं ठं नमः अनाहते Aum Kam, Kham, Gam, Gham, Nam, Cham, Chham, Jam, Jham, Nam, Pam, Pham Namah Anahate. Touch the heart region while conceiving twelve petal lotus called अनाहत चक्र Anahat Chakra. The colour of petals is blood red and each sound letter is on each petal. Conceive it clockwise, while reciting Nyasa Mantra. Here are the cardiac Nerve plexues.

ॐ अं आं इं ईं उं ऊं ऋं ॠं लृं लॄं एं ऐं ओं औं अं आं: नमः विशुद्धे Aum Am, Aam, im, Im, um, Um, rm, Rm, lr, Lrm, eim, Aim, Om, aum, Aamh (ahah) Namah Vishude. Touch the root of the throat region where medulla ends and spinal chord starts downwards in the vertebra. Here is the cloud coloured sixteen petal lotus, on each petal, each vowel sound letter is conceived with crescent moon in the circle, wherefrom issues forth the lotus petal that is seen. Go clockwise while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

ॐ हं क्षं नमः आज्ञा चक्रे Aum Ham Ksham Namah Ajna Chakre. Touch your forehead in between the eyebrows. Here is the two petal white lotus with the sound letters 'Ham' on the right hand petal and the sound letter Ksham on the left side the circle where from the petals issue contain Aum, where within is the Shiva lingam of white hue called स्फटिक लिङ्ग Sphatik Linga within which are Shiva Shakti blend together as अर्धनारीश्वर Ardhanarishwara. It is here, the Kundalini rises from the basal lotus and makes her sojourn winding itself round the तारकलिङ्ग 'Taraka-Linga'. This is called rise of the awakened Kundalini. Conceive the अज्ञाचक्र Ajna Chakra while reciting Nyasa Mantra—Aum Ham Ksham Ajna chakre Namah. Thereafter, touch your head with your both hands while mentally reciting all the fifty sound letters in the brain cavity wherein is the cerebral fluid. Here is the seat of Shiva and Shakti or Lakshmi and Narayana, or Shri Maha Tripura Sundari in the मणिद्वीप Mani Dvipa.

The सहस्रदल Sahasradal Kamala is called Sahasrara सहस्रार, where the thousand petal louts contains twenty sets of fifty two Matrika sounds that activate the material aspect of the brain viz. cerebrum of main two lobes that contain the material sounds governing the web net work of the nervous system scattered in the whole body in afferent and efferent systems. The material sound graphs of the systems are perceived and understood through the medical appliances, but what are the sounds actually and how do these combine and permute is yet to be discovered. These can be discovered in a living human being or a mammal, but never in a dead body. Any time, when these are understood scientifically in reference to the Sanskrit alphabets revered as the वर्णमाला, it will be a very new concept materially.

Here the performer needs to refer to the Matrika sounds of the alphabets वर्णमाला—Varnamala as listed along with their कला—Kala. Recite all the fifty sounds with the carrier sound अनुनासिक (n), while touching the head with both-hands and conceive the Matrikas in Sahassara.

Note:-

For the word Avyekta marked (1) in Viniyoga recitation refer to the two compound consonants ज्ञ Jna and त्र Tra which become Vyekta for the practising adept. These are manifestly deciphered by the practising Yogi.

अथ ध्यानं ॥ Atha Dhyanam.

Now the contemplation:-

English Rendering:-

The letters of the moon digits (sixteen) that issue forth independently without the support of any other sound come from the tongue. These are inherent in the sixteen petals of विशुद्ध चक्र—Vishudha Chakra and in the human physical body that comes out through vocal cords situated in the larynx, within which the sounds of the three sets of units, i.e. ह्रस्व—'Hrasva' the one unit sounds, दीर्घ—'Dirgha' the two unit sounds and प्लुत—Plut, the three unit sounds are uttered. The five set sounds of consonants and the other set of eight consonants, each of which become 'Mantra' with the support of the sixteen vowel sounds. These come out as guttural, palatal, twisting of the tongue with palate, with teeth, tongue and lips, teeth and lips. All these sounds are uttered through the mouth as vocal sounds. The sublime sounds of मध्यमा, पश्यन्ती, परा Madhyama, Pashyanti and Para which are mentally seen and cover the whole universe. These exist in our heads as impulses and therefrom distributed in all parts of the body and inner mechanism through the nerve impulses. The Shakti of these sound impulses is 'Mother Saraswati' which remains in our tongue, as सर्वमङ्गला—Sarvamangala in our mouth and as अमृतकला—Amritkala on our lips.

"O Mother! 'Thou' destroyest the poisons of the body while residing in our heads and communicate to the body mechanism for our well-being! The devotee who understands this, which is your play surely conquers death. I bow to Thine grace!"

English Rendering:-

Thou and Thine power remains in our heads as fifty two Mother sounds, and these are distributed downwards in the six Chakras which issue forth the network of communication in the sets of sixteen vowels, thirty three consonants and one compound consonant 'क्ष' 'Ksha'. That Thou art at work, since the beginning of the universe, while creating and renovating ever.

"I, while worshipping you, invoke all these मात्तृका कला Matraika Kalas and other Shakti Kalas in the Kumbha forming the Samvit Kala. O Mother Bharti! I conceive you seated on a lotus with the sound instrument of 'Veena', by weight whereof your breasts have a tilt as if ready to give source of wisdom and activity to your devoted child. You appear with the book, the Mala (rosasy) as bestowing boon and supplication to your devotees. I bow to this soothing graceful form."

(23) ॐ हस्रौं: बं, छागलांडेशाय कपर्दिन्यै नमः, पृष्टे Aum Hasraunah Bam Chhaglandeshaya Kapardinyei Namah, Prishte. Touch your back with both hands while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(24) ॐ हस्रौं: भं द्विरंडेशाय वज्रायै नमः, नाभौ Aum Hasraunah Bham Dvirandeshaya Vajrayai Namah Nabhau. Touch the Navel with both hands while reciting Nayas Mantra.

(25) ॐ हस्रौं: मं, महाकालेशाय जयायै नमः, जठरे Aum Hasraunah Mam Mahakaleshaya Jayayai Namah Jathare. Touch the stomach while reciting the Nyasa Mantra.

(26) ॐ हस्रौं: यं, त्वगात्मनें वालीशाय सुमुख्यै नमः, हृदि Aum Hasraunah Yam, Tvagatmne Valishaya Sumukhyai Namah Hridi. Touch with both hands the heart region while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(27) ॐ हस्रौं: रं, अमृतात्मने भुजगेशाय रेवत्यै नमः, दक्षांसे Aum Hasraunah Ram Amritatmne Bhujgeshaya Revatyai Namah, Dakshanse. Touch from the right side of hair region to the right side position of throat while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(28) ॐ हस्रौं: लं, मांसात्मने पिनाकेशाय माधव्यै नमः, क ऊदि

Aum Hasraunah Lam Mansatmne Pinakeshaya Madhaveyai Namah, K-Udi. Touch the throat at the vocal cords (tongue base) where from Kavarga sound issues while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(29) ॐ हस्रौं: वं मेदसात्मने खड्गेशाय वारुण्यै नमः, वामांसे

Aum Hasraunah Vam Medasatmne Khadgeshaya Varunyai Namah, Vamanse. Touch the left side from heart region to the throat while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(3) ॐ हस्रौं: शं, अस्थात्मने अर्धकेशाय वायण्यै नमः, हृदादि दक्षपाण्यन्तम् Aum Hasraunah Sham Asthatmne Ardhakeshaya Vayavyai Namah, Hridadi Dakshapanyantam. Touch from right side of heart region to the right hand, including shoulder and arm, while reciting the Nyasa Mantra.

(34) ॐ ह्स्रौं: लं, जीवात्मने शर्वोशाय व्यापिन्यै नमः, पाददि नाभ्यान्तम् Aum Hasraunah Lam, Jivatmne Sharveshaya Vyapinyai Namah Padadi Nabhiyantam. Touch your feet with respective hands and move them upto the navel while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

ॐ ह्स्रौं: क्षं:, परमात्मने संवर्तकेशाय महामायायै नमः, नाभ्यादि मूर्धन्तिम् Aum Hasraunah Kshamha Parmatmne Samvartakeshaya Maha-Mayayei Namah Nabhyadi Murdantim. Touch with both hands from the navel to the top of head while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

Thus 'Bahir Matrika Nyasa' of fifty letter sounds is concluded. The top of the Head is the place within which is the Brahmrandra – The fontenelle, the opening in the crown of the Head.

अथ षडङ्ग मातृका न्यास:- Now the Nyasa of Shadangas i.e. six regions of body.

अथ विनियोग:- Now the Viniyoga/invocation by offering water with right hand.

Aneshu Nyasa Mantrasya Prajapatih Rshihi, Gayatram Chhandah Shri Sharada Bhagwati Devata, Klim Bijam, Hrim Shaktihi Namah Kilakam, Abhishta Kamana Vapte Jape Pujayam Va Viniyoga.

English Rendering:-

The Rishi of the Nyasa Mantra is Prajapatih; the Mantra is composed in the Gayatri Chhanda-one of the Vedic meters called Gayatri. Shri Sharada Devi is the Presiding Deity. The seed Mantra is 'Klim'. The power force whereof is Hrim, Namah is its Kilaka-the controlling power. I (the performer) undertake to do the Nyasa Mantra as the pre-requisite for the Japa or Puja of the deity. (Offer water, while reciting the Viniyoga, through the fingers of the right hand as directed above).

अथ करन्यास: Atha Kara Nyasa. Now the Nyasa (Purification) of hands:-

(1) अं ॐ आं, अगुष्ठाभ्यां नमः Am AUM Aam Angushthabhyam Namah, touch the thumbs of both hands with respective forefingers while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(2) इं ॐ ईं, तर्जनीभ्यां नमः Im Aum Iim Tarjanibhyam Namah, Touch the forefingers of both hands by their respective thumbs while reciting Nyasa.

(3) उं ॐ ऊं, मध्यमाभ्यां नमः Um Aum Uum Madhymabhyam Namah. Touch the middle fingers of both hands by respective thumbs while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(4) ऋ ॐ ॠ, अनामिकाभ्यां, नमः Ri Aum Rii Anamikabhyam Namah. Touch the ring fingers of both the hands with respective thumbs reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(5) एं ॐ ऐं, कनिष्ठिकाभ्यां नमः Em Aum Aim Kansihthikabhyam Namah. Touch the little fingers of both hands by their thumbs, while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

एवमेव हृदादि षडंगन्यास: Evameva Hridayadi Shadanga Nyasa. Similar Mantras are for heart region and other parts in Shadanga Nyasa as:

(1) अं ॐ आं, हृदयाय नम: Am Aum Aam Hridyaya Namah. Touch the heart region with both hands while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(2) इं ॐ ईं, शिरसे स्वाह: Im Aum Iim Shirse Svaha. Touch the head with both hands while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(3) उं ॐ ऊं, शिखायै वषट् Um Aum Uum Shikhayai Vashat. Touch the top of the back head with both hands while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(4) ॠं ॐ ॠं कवचाय, हुं Rim Aum Riim Kavachaya Hum. Cross your hands in a way that right hands fingers touch the left ear lobe and the left hand fingers touch the right ear lobe, while reciting Nyasa Mantra.

(5) एं ॐ ऐं, नेत्रत्रयाय वौषट् Eim Aum Aaim Netratrayaya Vaushat. Touch with right hand the two eyes with fore and ring finger in the way that the middle finger touches in between the eye brows while reciting the Nyasa Mantra.

(6) ओं ॐ औं, अस्त्राय फट Om Aum Aoum Astraya Phat. Strike two plams together three times in the clapping manner and then twist the thumb and middle finger of the right hand above your head making the twisting sound, while reciting Nyasa Mantra. Thus the Shadanga Nyasa is performed.

एवं करषड्ंग विधाय श्री भगवती ध्यायेत् Evam Kar Shadanga Vidaya Shri Bhagwati Dhyayet. After Kara Nyasa and Shadang Nyasa, the performer meditates on the description of the Feminine form description, as called in the Dhyana Mantra.

The Dhyanam needs to be compared with other MSS if available. It can be substituted by another Dhyana Mantra, if available.

अथ ध्यानं Atha Dhyanam: Now, meditation on the form of the Shri Sharada

English Rendering:-

Meditate upon Shri Sharada in the symbol of Hrim (Guhya)-the Iccha Shakti for creativity and inseparable from the volition of the cognizance—'the I' as 'Adyhatma Bhava' (Shiva), the Jnana Shakti, inspearable one from the other as such called Devi, the power of the powerful.

Invocation:-

At the invocation of Shri Sharada, it is traditionally desired to give जीवादान Jivadana; adding सञ्जीवनी Sanjivani Mantra to the formal Jivadan प्राण-प्रतिष्ठा Pran pratishtha conceiving that the Divine is everywhere in every thing-Omnipotent, Omnipresent and Omniscient and the devotee is in love with the Divine. He/She desires to invoke the presence of the Divinity in a particular form, symbol and Name for making the offerings of water अभिषेक, विनियोग, पञ्चोपचार, शोषडोपचार (Abhisheka, Viniyoga and five fold or sixteen fold Puja Archana-Panchopchar, Shodashopchar Puja) and or Havana Yajna-the fire offerings etc. So the Sanjivana of Sharada is given here under:-

Shri Sharada Sanjivani Mantra:-

कामराजं जपेदादौ मायाबीजं तथांचले। शारदामन्त्रराजं संजीवतः मनु स्मृतः

Kamarajam Japedadau Maya bejam tathanchale, Sharada Mantrarajam Sanjiwatah Manu Smrtah.

By prefixing कामराज Kamaraja (क्लीं) and suffixing Maya Bija (ह्रीं) to the श्रीशारदा मंत्रराज Shri Sharada Aantraraja, the Mantra becomes potent and awakening for the practice of the devotee. This should always be kept in mind. This process is called Samputa (संपुट).

After invoking the grace of Shri Sharada, its Gayatri should be recited in Puja-Archana three times with flower offerings; and six times with the offerings of the clarified butter in Havana-Yajna with the sacred names in the Archana as also in the शारदा-सहस्रनाम-स्तवराज Sharada Sahasranama Stvaraja.

After invoking Shri Sharada, the devotee/ performer makes the request in the following manner:-

देवेशी भक्ति सुलभे परिवारसमन्विते, यावत् त्वां पूजयिष्यामि तावत् देवि इहावह इहावह, संतिष्ठ संतिष्ठ, सन्निरुधत्स्व सन्निरुधत्स्व, संमुखी भव संमुखी भव संमुखीभव, अवगुंठाभव अवगुंठा भव, अंत्रृणीकृत्य परमीकृत्य, सकली कृत्य ॐ आं ह्रीं क्रौं यं रं लं वं शं षं सं हं लं क्षः हंसः श्री शारदा भगवत्या इह प्राणाः श्री शारदाभगवत्या जीव इहस्थितः श्री शारदाभगवती सर्वेन्द्रियाणि वा मनस्त्वक्-चक्षः श्रोत्र घ्राणा इहागत्य चिरं तिष्ठतु स्वाहा

Transliteration:-

English Rendering:-

The presence of Shri Sharada on the set as established in a pot image or an idol form or Yantra symbol is invoked in the following manner:-

A request is made to the Omnipresent Divine Mother to be potentially present for the devotee's worship. Flower offerings and fire offerings to the idol, Chakra Yantra or the pot, whatever is kept on the seat is worshiped. The devotee says, "O Mother! You are Omniscient, Omnipotent and Omnipresent, Pray! Come into this form Symbol/Pot and take the seat as offered. As you are easily attainable to a true devotee and graceful for him and his clan, Pray! Stay here till I perform your worship and make offerings. Come and be manifest as an Existent one, with body-limbs, eyes, ears, nose, mouth, skin, mind and sense perceptions. Be kind and merciful and accept the sixteen fold Puja of पाद्य Padya, अर्ध्य Arghya आचमनीय Achmanya, मुखप्रक्षालण Mukha Prakshelana, (अभिषेक Abhishaka), वस्त्र Vastra, दीप Deepa धूप Dhoopa, नैवेद्य Navaidya, ताम्बूल Tambula, पुष्पमाला Pushpa Mala, पुर्ष्पाचना Pushparchana, अपूषान Apushana, आचमनीय Achamanya and the prayers. Do grant grace to all and be kind to the devotee!

Thus conceiving the प्राण-प्रतिष्ठा Pranpratishtha the Puja is performed with the Mulamantra of जीवनदान Jivadan, which is used while performing the sixteen fold Puja. The Mula Mantra is given in the transliteration of the Sadhana. It is a Divine Mantra in Sanskrit. After this performance the flower offering is made in this manner:-

पुष्पार्चना Offering of flowers

ॐ हस्रौं अं श्री कंठेश पूर्णोदरीभ्यां नमः Aum Hasraunah Am Shrikanthesh Purnodaribhyam Namah.

ॐ आधार शक्त्यै नमः Aum Adhar Shavtyai Namah.

ॐ कूर्माय नमः Aum Kurmaya Namah.

ॐ अनन्ताय नमः Aum Anantaya Namah, the infinite.

ॐ वराहाय नमः Aum Varahaya Namah, the Boar incarnation.

ॐ चतुः समुद्राय नमः Aum Chatuh Samudraya Namah, the four fold Ocean.

ॐ मणिमय वेदिकायै नमः Aum Manimaya Vedikayai Namah, the Jewelled altar.

ॐ मेधायै नमःङ्क Aum Medhayai Namah, the higher intellect.

ॐ प्रजायै नमः Aum Prajayai Namah, the Manifestation.

ॐ विद्यायै नमः Aum Vidyayai Namah, the knowledgde.

ॐ श्रियै नमः Aum Shriyai Namah, the Auspiciousness.

ॐ धृत्यै नमः Aum Drityai Namah, the Sustenance.

ॐ स्मृत्यै नमः Aum Smrteyai Namah, the Memory.

ॐ बुद्धयै नमः Aum Bhuddhyai Namah, the Intellect.

ॐ विद्येश्वर्यै नमः Aum Vidyeshwaryai Namah, the Goddess of knowledge.

ॐ सर्वशक्तिमय योगपीठासनाय नमः Aum Sarva Shaktimaya Yogapithasanaya Namah, all the Shaktis presiding over the Yoga

Thus the flower offerings are made to the seat where the pot or the idol is seated and Shri Sharada Devi's presence is invoked. Same Matri Devi Archana – the flower offerings is for the Yantra of linear symbol called Chakra also, when the Chakra is placed on the seat. The only difference is that the offering of flowers is done step by step from भूपुर Bhupura to the बिन्दु dot which is drawn by inference as the conception of the point, which is 'Avyekta' or unmanifested. Here the flower offering to the Sharada Chakra is explained. While as the pot or the idol is offered flowers with the same names, the Chakra is offered flowers conceiving all parts of Bhupura - the outer gates; Trivali-the three circles; the Shodashara—the sixteen petal lotus; Ashtara—the eight petal lotus; the two intersecting triangle formed as a star called Shatkona; the inner triangle with apex downward and the dot in the centre.

It is already explained in the chapter titled as the 'Sharada Mahatmyam that Sharada Chakra was on a stone slab at the main Sharada Pitha of Shri Shaila hill (present Shardi) as well as at Gushi, Kupwara which was removed from the original seat of the Pitha in 1978 and another slab is in the spring called 'Kalai Nag' at Kalusa Bandipura, which could not be taken out, when the Meru Linga and the idol of Nagarjuna were recovered from the spring. However, it is to be noted that at the point of time when Shri Adi Shankaracharya visited the Sharada Shrine of Shri Shaila, there was wooden Shri-Chakra and wooden idol of Shri Sharada which were worshipped. The replica of both images the idol as well as Shri Chakra were installed by Shri Adi Shankaracharya at the Sharadamba Pitha of Shankaracharya Mutth and at Shringeri which still exists there and are worshipped by the Shankaracharyas and the present day Peethadipati. Though Shri Vidyaranya Swami replaced both and installed Shri Chakra and the idol of Shri Sharada made of gold, which are worshipped by all those who visit the Matth. The Sharada Chakra in the later invocation is recorded in the Rudrayamala Tantra along with the method of invocation, Nyasa, Archana and Puja. Much has been printed, written and published about Shri Chakra, but the very few have access to its worship and Upasana in its system of worship, as it is very mystic and occult in practice. Shri Chakra is based on Shri Vidya which has fifteen Sampradayas or cults of पञ्चादशाक्षरी Panchdashakshari—the fifteen syllabled Mantra, the Shodashi Shri Vidya—the sixteen Syllabled Mantra and the Saubhagya Vidya, the twenty seven syallbled Mantra with the Samputa. All the related Mantras are for 'Shrimata Maha Tripur Sundari'—the mother of three Karnas त्रिकारण and the blend of ज्ञान Jana, इच्छा Iccha and क्रिया Kriya शक्ति Shaktis. Here the Archana of Shri Sharada Chakra is explained.

After keeping the Sharada Chakra on the Sharada seat, the prerequesite preliminaries as described above are performed. The Viniyoga, Nyasa and Dhyana Mantra recited and offerings of water flowers etc., are made. Thereafter, the invocation, Prana Pratisha, and Puja with flower offerings with the names for the grace and reverence to the seat. All these are common whether Shri Sharada is invoked in a pot, an idol or in Sharada Chakra.

अथ शारदा चक्रार्चना Atha Sharada Chakrarchana.

Now the flower offerings to Shri Sharada Chakra:-

After performing Shodashapchar Puja of Padya, Arghya, Achmanya, Mukh Prekhalana, Snana, Asana, Vasa (offering of cloth for dressing), Dhoopa, Deepa, Tilaka, Naiveda, Tambula, Apushanana, Achmanya, Archana (with flowers and rice grains) and Tarpana, Sharada Chakra Puja is performed with flower offerings.

श्री शारदा चक्र अर्चना ॥ Shri Sharada Chakra Archana.

(1) भूपुर द्वार पूजा ॥ Bhupur Dvarapuja. The offering at the outer gates of the four sides of the outer lines of Shri Sharada Chakra starting from the Eastern gate.

(i) पूर्वद्वारे-गं गणेशाय नमः Purva Dvare Gam Ganeshaya Namah. Offer flowers at the Eastern gate while reciting Mantra.

(ii) दक्षिणद्वारे-धं धर्माय नमः Dakshan Dvare-Dham Dharmaya Namah Offer flowers at the Southern gate while reciting Mantra.

(iii) पश्चिमद्वारे-वं वरुणाय नमः Pashchim Dvare-Van Varunaya Namah Offer flowers at the Western gate while reciting Mantra.

(iv) उत्तरद्वारे-कुं कुबेराय नमः Uttar Dvare-Kum Kuberaya Namah Offer flowers at the Northern gate while reciting Mantra.

(2) एवं अष्टदिशायां संपूजय॥ Evam Ashta Dishayam Sampujaya. In the Similar manner, make flower offerings to eight sides, four sides and four corners begining from the East then going clockwise, offering with the recitations of the Mantra to the guardian forces of these directions.

(i) लं इन्द्राय वज्रहस्ताय नमः Lam Indraya Vajra Hastaya Nama-Lam is the sound force of Indra who holds thunder bolt as weapon for protection. Hallowed be His name. (Offer flowers, while doing Namaskar)

(ii) हं ईशानाय त्रिशूल हस्ताय नमः Ham Ishanaya Trishula Hastaya Nama. Ham the sound force Inshana holding Trident as a weopen to guard the south-eastern side. Hallowed be His name offer flowers while reciting.

(iii) टं यमाय दण्डहस्ताय नमः Tam Yamaya Dandahastaya Namah. Tam the sound force, Yama carrying scepter/staff to guard the South side. Hallowed be His name make offerings with the Namaskar.

(iv) यं वायवे ध्वजहस्ताय नमः Yam Vayave Dvajahastaya Namah. Yam the sound force carrying the flag at the South-Westen corner for protection. Hallowed be the Vayavya sound.

(v) वं वरुणाय पाशहस्ताय नमः Vam Varunaya Pash Hastaya Namah. Vam the sound force Varuna carrying the noose to protect the Western side. Hallowed be his name.

Note:-

Namah means salutation. Here it is fully explained for the invocation at the time of offerings.

(vi) क्षं निर्ऋते खड्गहस्ताय नमः Ksham Nirrte Khadga Hastaya Namah. Kshan, the sound force Nirrtya carring the sword to protect the North Western side. Hallowed be His Name.

(vii) कुं कुबेराय गदाहसताय नमः Kum Kuberaya Gada Hastaya Namah. Kum-the sound force Kubera carrying the club as a weapon to protect the Northen side. Hallowed be His name.

(viii) रं अग्नये शक्ति हस्ताय नमः Ram Agnaye Shakti Hastaya Namah. Ram the sound power force carrying Shakti as the weapon to protect North- eastern corner side. Hallowed be His name.

(3) Now the offering is made at the point of Chakra within inner Traingle.

बिन्दौ मूलं श्री शारदा भगवत्यै सशिवायै सपरिवारायै नमः

Bindau Mulam Shri Sharada Bhagwatyai Sashivayai Saparivarayai Namah.

I bow at the central point as Shri Sharada Bhagwati with Shiva which comes forth as in the Chakra with the celestial power forces forming the family of Shri Sharada. The concept is that the whole Chakra as the symbol of the mainfestation issues forth as the universal power force; at the point taken as a dot by inference.

After understanding this and making the flower offerings the three circles are conceived in 'Guru' and offer flowers with the Mantra.

(4) (i) दिव्यौघेभ्यो गुरुभ्यो नमः Divyaughebhyo Gurubhyo Namah. Obeisance to the Divine celestial Gurus (offer flowers while reciting)

(ii) सिद्धौघेभ्यो गुरुभ्यो नमः Siddhoghebhyo Gurubhyo Namah. Obeisance to the Adi Siddhas who live in the celestrial worlds (offer flowers while reciting).

(iii) मानवौघेभ्यो गुरुभ्यो नमः Manavaughebhyo Gurubhyo Namah. Obeisance to the Guru who take birth on the earth from time to time to preach and redeem the people.

(iv) श्रीगुरुभ्यो नमः Shri Gurubhyo Namah. Obeisance to the offerer's Master preceptor.

(v) परमगुरुभ्यो नमः Param Gurubhyo Namah. Obeisance to Masters Preceptor.

(vi) परापर गुरुभ्यो नमः Parapar Gurubhyo Namah. Obeisance to the third generation prior Gurus.

(vii) परमेष्ठने गरुभ्यो नमः Parmeshthane Gurubhyo Namah. Obeisance to the first in line to the Guru Parampara of Human Gurus. This is the invocation and flower offerings to the Gurus in the Shri Sharada Chakra at the three outer circles.

In order to remove the confusion among people in regard to the Guru aspect, श्री शारदा चक्रोपसना Shri Sharada Chakra Upasana Padhati has vividly described the Guru aspect in three stages in the universe and beyond viz. (a) दिव्यौघ गुरु Divyogh Guru, (b) सिद्धौघ गुरु Siddhaugha Guru, and (c) मानवौघ गुरु Manavaugh Guru. All the three aspects need to be explained so that the devotees do not misconceive one for the other.

(a) Divyaugh Guru in the first instance pertains to ज्ञान शक्ति Janan Shakti, which comes out as the first volition of the अव्यक्ताक्षर Avyekta-Akshara, the unmanifested indivisble which the Vedas call unknowable. The volition "I am" as cognizence of Avyekta* which is also called Niranjana in Shaivagamas is the Jnana Shakti and here termed as 'Divyaugh Guru'. In the Sharada Paddhati, Shri Sharada as वर्णमाला कला-सम्वित्कला Varnamala Kalas and 'Samvit-Kala' may be construed as the Divyaugh Guru. Shri Shakti is also basically the primal sound AUM called 'Adhyatma' which in Shrimad Bhagwadgita chapter 17 verse 23 is described as "तत्" Tat-neither male nor female or the blend of both Purusha and Prakriti as well as "सत्" 'Sat' the 'Truth Absolute'. Maharshi Patanjali describes it as ईश्वर: 'Ishwara' in his 'Yoga Darsharna' Sutra 24; and further eloberates it in the sutras 25, 26 and 27 vividly in the following manner:

Sutra 25:- तत्र निरतिशयं सवर्ज्ञ बीजम् Tatra Niratishayam Sarvajna Bijam, with Him lies the infinite source of knowing all.

Sutra 26:- पूर्वेषामपि गुरुः कालेनानवच्छेदात् Purveshampai Guru Kalena-Navachhedat. He (Ishwara) is the 'Guru' of the Purvas—the powers named Brahma, Vishnu and Mahesha respectively because of the two reasons: (i) It is by His activiting power that these powers work. (ii) And these triadic three causal powers are within time and affected by time i.e. these end in time at the Mahapralaya. But Ishwara being beyond time, remains unaffected by time.

Sutra 27:- तस्य वाचकः प्रणवः Tasya Vachakaha Pranava. His (Ishwara's) Primal Name is Pranava- the sound 'AUM'. The sound Aum is also described as the Panchadevas viz: Shri Ganesha, Shri Surya, Shri Vishnu, Shri Shiva and Shri Devi in the Vedas and the Atharva Veda sing their glory in Pancha Atharvas Shirshas. The Yajnas are performed for these Panchdevas as five Swahakars and daily Puja is also performed for these Devatas. Since Panchdevas are blend in single form of Pranava, so these too come under the catagory of Divyaugha Guru.

(b) Siddhaugya Guru:- The second conception here is about the Siddhaugha Gurus. This relates to Adi Siddhas, who are named as Sanaka, Sanandana, Santa-Sujata and Sanat Kumara. This term refers to Devarshi Narada and Rishi Brighu and all Siddhas who take abode in celestial realms and who are Gurus and Master precepters in their own right. Shrimad Bhagwatgita refers to these Siddhas in chapter 11 verses 15 and 21 as seen by Arjuna in the "Vishvaroop-Darshana'. There are also references where Narada gave Mantra Diksha to Devi Parvati and Dhruva—the child adept.

(c) Manavaugh Guru: - The greatest of the Manavaugh Gurus are the Avatara Purushas, who took birth on the earth to protect the upright masses and destroyed the evil from time to time.

These greastest of human Gurus lived the life of four fold पुरुषार्थ Purushartha and examplified the goodness by their own way of life. These reformers created cults and faith and enabled people to have faith in the Sanatana Dharma ethos, with common ethical codes, on higher ideals of human life. Shri Rama as the Maryada Purushotama, Shri Krishna as Yogeshvara, Shri Gautam Buddha and Shri Vardhaman Mahavira as apostles of 'Non-injury' to the Jiva and protection of all living things. They tought compassion and love for life.

Then comes the catagory of Rishis-Saints, seers and spiritual scholars who established 'Sanatana' ethos through श्रुति Strutis, समृति Smrties and आगम Agamas. They created Gotras, cults, Sampradayas, schools of thought. Saptarshis and Rishis like, Shri Duttatreya, Shri Durvasa, Shri Vyasa are highly revered. Adi Shankaracharya, who affected reforms and created the unity in diversity in the Sanatana way of life and ethos, is highly adored.

Thereafter comes the catagories of the galaxy of सन्त Saints who followed the cults and got emancipated through the practices of Yoga, the path of devotion and love and became Jeevanmuktas. These great ones create गुरुशिष्यपरम्परा Guru Shishya Parampara to perpetuate the methods which helped these to become highly evolved. They want their selected ones to become free as they themselves are. This is called गुरुऋण Guru Rin-the debt of Guru's causing to learn the method of practice which absolves and the debt is paid off, if and when the desciple attains the finale of the practice and becomes quite fit to impart this training to the next generation. These are the lineage of Sadgurus that keep alive the ethos and Parampara or tradition, though all the saints and sages help the mankind directly or indirectly through their compassion and grace.

Nevertheless, all the catagories of Manavaugh Gurus are the human beings born on the earth, growing and passing different stages of the body frame and utlimately passing over to higher realms. Never has at any point of time been in the history of Hindu ethos that any Sahasranama Trimshati, Ashtotarashati or Gayatri been written for these Rishis, saints, seers and Jivanmuktas because they do not fall in the catagory of celestial ones, nor do their disciples or devotees become Rishis. Santana Dharma ethos clearly says that for such writings the writer should be a Rishi, the personage about whom these Sahasranams or Gayatris are written must essentially be a DEVATA and the writing should be in a particular Vedic meter called छन्द Chhanda. For conveying this truth, the catagories of Gurus are distinctly shown in the Shri Sharada Chakra Puja.

After worshipping the three circles in गुरुभाव Guru Bhava and offering flower Archana, the Sixteen petal lotus is worshipped by offering flowers पद्मदल petal by petal reciting names and नमः मंत्र Namah Mantra, while paying obeisance. This begins from the Eastern gate going clockwise. All the

Sixteen petals are offered flowers with recitation as listed below:-

(1) लक्ष्म्यै नमः Lakshmyai Namah. I bow to Lakshmi, auspiciousness. (Offer flowers)

(2) कीर्त्यै नमः Kirtyai Namah. I bow to Kirti, the grandeur. (Offer flowers)

(3) धृत्यै नमः Dhrityai Namah. I bow to Dhriti, the sustenance. (Offer flowers)

(4) धन्यायै नमः Dhanyayai Namah. I bow to Dhanya, the meditation. (Offer flowers)

(5) स्थित्यै नमः Sthityai Namah. I bow to Sithiti, the existence. (offer flowers)

(6) शान्त्यै नमः Shanteyai Namah. I bow to Shanti, the peace. (offer flowers)

(7) विभायै नमः Vibhayai Namah. I bow to Vibha, the effulgence(offer flowers)

(8) मत्यै नमः Matyai Namah. I bow to Mati, the decision. (offer flowers)

(9) गत्यै नमः Gatyai Namah. I bow to Gati, the movement. (offer flowers)

(1) भ्रान्त्यै नमः Bhrantyai Namah. I bow to Bhranti, the delusion. (offer flowers)

(11) नृत्यै नमः Nrityai Namah. I bow to Nriti, the dance. (offer flowers)

(12) वाण्यै नमः Vanyai Namah. I bow to Vani, the sound. (offer flowers)

(13) सभायै नमः Sabhayai Namah, the assembly. I bow to the Assembly. (offer flowers)

(14) शोभायै नमः Shobhayai Namah. I bow to Splendour. (offer flowers)

(15) क्रियायै नमः Kriyayai Namah. I bow to Act of worship. (offer flowers)

(16) स्तुत्यै नमः Stutai Namah, the laudation. I bow to Laudation. (offer flowers)

(6) After invoking the grace of Shri Sharada by making offerings to the sixteen petal louts, now the aspiring adept will make offerings to the अष्टदल eight-petal lotus. First the eight forms of Mahabhairava are offered flowers while reciting their names with Namah-the obeisance. The adept needs to know that wherever a Shakti Pitha is situated, there a Bhairava remains at guard. All the fifty main Shakti Pithas in the Indian sub-continent have the Bhairavas at guard. Conversely, where there is a Bhairava, there a शक्तिस्थल Skakti Sthala must be situated nearby in the vicinity. Otherwise, there are two forms in 'Adhyatma-Bhava' and

'Bhuta-Bhava', simultaneously present and worshipped in the Sanctum sanctorum. This is the indication that the Shakti Peetha is real and genuine.

Now the offerings to the eight Bhairavas. This is performed with the recitation of name with Namah offering flowers in between two petals starting from the east going from right to left anti-clockwise and making flower offerings.

(1) असिताङ्गभैरवाय नमः 1 Asitanga Bhairavaya Namah. Obeisance to Asitanga Bhairava.

(2) रुरुभैरवाय नमः 2 Ruru Bhairavaya Namah. Obeisance to Ruru Bhairava.

(3) चण्डभैरवाय नमः 3 Chanda Bhairavaya Namah. Obeisance to Chanda Bhairava.

(4) क्रोधभैरवाय नमः 4 Krodha Bhairavaya Namah. Obeisance to Krodha Bhairva.

(5) उन्मतभैरवाय नमः 5 Unmata Bhairavaya Namah. Obeisance to Unmata-Bhairava.

(6) कपालभैरवाय नमः 6 Kapala Bhairavaya Namah. Obeisance to Kapala Bhairava.

(7) भीषणभैरवाय नमः 7 Bhishana Bhairavaya Namah. Obeisance to Bhishana Bhairava.

(8) संहारभैरवाय नमः 8 Samhar Bhairavaya Namah. Obeisance to Samhara Bhairava.

After Bhairva offerings, devotee needs to offer पुष्पार्चना Pushparchana to Shri Sharada, petal by petal starting from the East and going clockwise with recitation of names at the eight petal lotus:-

(1) वाग्देव्यै नमः Vagdevyai Namah. Obeisance to Vagdevi.

(2) वागीश्यै नमः Vagishyai Namah. Obeisance to Vagishi.

(3) सरस्वत्यै नमः Saraswatyai Namah. Obeisance to Saraswati.

(4) महेश्वर्यै नमः Maheshwaryai Namah. Obeisance to Maheshwari.

(5) अनलप्रियायै नमः Analpriyayai Namah. Obeisance to Analapriya.

(6) वेण्यै नमः Venyai Namah. Obeisance to Veni.

(7) वेणामुख्यै नमः Venamukheyai Namah. Obeisance to Venamukhi.

(8) विद्याधर्यै नमः Vidyadharyai Namah. Obeisance to Vidyadhari.

अभीष्टसिद्धिं मे देहि शरणागतवत्सले Abhishta Sidhi Mei Dehi Sharnagata-Vatsale. Bestow me with the power of the understanding, which Thine names denoting the various moods of the Sharada Devi. O! Thou art the 'Refuge' of the devotees who come to your feet as supplicant. Pray! Grant the boon!

After flower offerings to the eight petal lotus the adept then proceeds to the six-points of the apexes of the triangles formed by the two intersecting triangles. Make flower offerings with the recitation of names with the Namah Mantra.

Starting at the triangle with apex towards the east the flower-offering is made clockwise reciting the names of the Shaktis of Shri Sharada with Namah Mantra of obeisance:

(1) At the 1st triangle:- अम्बालिकायै नमः Ambalikayai Namah. Obeisance to Ambalika.

(2) At the 2nd triangle with apex towars South-East:- अम्बायै नमः Ambayai Namah. Obeisance to Amba.

(3) At the 3rd triangle with apex towards South: - बगलायै नमः Baglayai Namah Obeisance to Bagla.

(4) At the 4th triangle with apex towerds South West:- छिन्नशीर्षायै नमः Chhinnashirshayai-Namah, Obeisance to Chhinnashirsha.

(5) At the 5th triangle with apex towards North West: अंविकाय नमः Am-Vikayai Namah. Obeisance to Am Vikaya (the bodyless)

(6) At the 6th triangle with apex towards the North: भगायै नमः Bhagayai Namah, Obeisance to Bhaga (the source of Creation).

In the similar manner, the flower offerings are made again starting from the North East to the power forces which are invoked before starting flower offerings to the Shri Sharada Chakra, at the time of Nyasa for purification and protection of the performers hands and six body, parts, viz. heart region, head region at cerebrum, the hair lock region at cerebellum connective, at the chest region upto shoulders, at the eyes and in between the eyebrows, at around the head with moving the right hand from left to right twisting fingers and striking palms in the manner of clapping (as detailed above in the Nyasa). These six powers are now offered flowers and conceived in the six triangles.

(1) अथ षड्ंग शक्ती: पूजयेत् Atha Shadanga Shaktih Pujayet. Now offer worship flowers to the power forces invoked in the body regions of the performer. (At the time of Nyasa to be offered)

(2) हृदयशक्त्यै नमः Hredaya Shaktyai Namah. Obeisance to power force in the heart region.

(3) शिरःशक्त्यै नमः Shiraha Shaktyai Namah. Obeisance to the power at head region.

(4) शिखाशक्त्यै नमः Shikha Shaktyai Namah.
Obeisance to the power at hair lock region.

(5) कवचशक्त्यै नमः Kavacha Shaktyai Namah.
Obeisance to the power at the Chest region.

(6) नेत्रशक्त्यै नमः Netra Shaktyai Namah.
Obeisance to the power at region of the eyes.

(7) अस्त्रशक्त्यै नमः Astra Shaktyai Namah.
Obeisance to the power of protection that uses armaments invoked as the sound protection.

After this offering is made, the performer needs to worship the innermost triangle, with apex downwards the angles whereof are conceived. Shri Sharada as Kriya Shakti and Iccha Shakti with the Adhyatma Bhava as presiding Deity called Tripura- the presiding deity of three Shaktis viz. 'Jnan-Icha-Kriya' as Shri Durga Devi or as Mahakali, Mahalakshmi, Mahasaraswati.

त्रिकोणचक्रे पुष्पाञ्जलि ईशानादि क्रमे Trikona Chakre Pushpanjali Ishanadi-Krame. Worship the innermost triangle with flower offerings, starting from the Southeast side going clockwise making the offering with the recitation of Name and Mantra:-

(1) कालिकायै नमः Kalikayai Namah. Obeisance to Kalika. (South east side).

(2) त्रिपुरायै नम: Tripurayai Namah. Obeisance to Tripura. (South west side).

(3) दुर्गायै नम: Durgayai Namah. Obeisance to Durga (Northern Side).

ततो बिन्दु चक्रे मूलेन सशिवां श्रीदेवीं पुष्पाञ्जलिभि: संपूज्य तत्रैव आयुधानि संपूजयेत् इति संपूजय गन्धादि पूर्ववत् सपरिवारां नैवेद्यं निवेद्य

Transliteration:-

Tato Binduchakre Muleina Sashivam Shri Devim Pushpanjalibhi Sampujya. Tatraiva Ayudhani Sampujayet. Iti Sampujya Gandhadi Puravat Saparivaram Naivedyam Nivedya.

Englsih Rendering:-

After making offerings to the inner traingle, the point is to be worshipped with flower offerings conceiving Shiva and Shri Devi blend together in the form of point which is depicted as a 'Bindu' dot by inference as the centre of the Chakra. Here at the point, after offering the flowers the अस्त्र-शस्त्र armaments of Shri Devi, which She keeps in her hands in the idol form, representing different power forces, symbolically are to be offered flowers with recitation of 'Name and Namah' Mantra. After doing this Shri Sharada Chakra is offered incense धूप (Dhoop), light दीप (Deep) and नैवेद्य Naiveda (edibles including fruit) and betal leaf ताम्बूल (Tambula) to conclude the Chakra Puja (by offering Tarpana).

अथ आयुध पुष्पार्चना Attha Ayudh Pushparchana. Now offerings to the Armaments with flowers and recitation.

(1) पद्माय नमः Padmaya Namah. Salutation to Padma – the lotus.

(2) चक्राय नमः Chakraya Namah. Salutation to Chakra – the Discus.

(3) हरिणाय नमः Harinaya Namah. Salutation to Harina – the White complexioned one.

(4) गुणाय नमः Gunaya Namah Salutation to Guna - the Attribute.

(5) पुस्तकाय नमः Pustakaya Namah. Salutation to Pustaka the Book.

(6) वर्णमालायै नमः Varnamalayai Namah. Salutation to Varnamala the garland of letters.

(7) टंकाय नमः Tankaya Namah. Salutation to Tanka – the Emboss.

(8) कपालाय नमः Kapalaya Namah. Salutation to Kapala.

(9) वराय नमः Varaya Namah. Salutation to Vara.

अमृतकुम्भाय नमः Amrit-Kumbhaya Namah. Salutation to Amrti Kumbha.

Thus concludes the Ayudh-Archana.

While offering the Pushparchana, the Mulamantra is to be recited which is already given and will be repeated. The adept who makes the offering can do Japa of the Mula Mantra ten times, twenty seven times or one hundred and eight times and more, if time allows.

अथ मूलमन्त्रः Atha Mula Mantra. Now the Mula Mantra.

ॐ ह्रीं क्लीं सः नमो भगवत्यै शारदायै ह्रीं स्वाहाः ह्रीं ॐ

Aum Hrim klim saha Namo Bhagwatai Sharadayai Hrim Swaha Hrim Aum.

At the offering of incense (Dhupam) and Deepam, the Ratri Sukta of Rig Veda and/or Devi Sukta of Rig Veda as given in the Saptshati Durga or the Devi Atharvashirsha or any of the Sanskrit Sholakas/prayers may be recited. The Naivedya Mantra is recorded in the Panchang/Almanac. The Tarpana Mantra is given hereunder. Copper pot should be used by preference in the Tarpana and other water offerings.

अथ तर्पणम् ॥ Atha Tarpanam. Now the Tarpana (water offering with right hand as already explained).

English Rendering:-

I, the performer having worshipped Shri Sharada Devi for lifting the veils of my ignorance and removing the demerits of my physical, mental and verbal deeds because of my ignorance, consequent upon the sheaths or Kanchukas of 'Maya-Malas'; as well as for seeking the grace of Shri Sharada as the power force in the forms of Ama, Kama, Charvangi, Tanka Dharini, Tara, Parvati, Yakshini, Shri Sharika Bhagwati, Shri Sharada Bhagwati, Shri Maharajni Bhagwati, Vrida Bhagwati, Vaikhari Bhagwati (as Matri Shaktis of Alphabets); Jwala Bhagwati, Vitasta Bhagwati, Ganga Bhagwati, Yamuna Bhagwati, Shri Durga; Durgapara, Kalika, Tara, Chhinna-Masta, Vaglamukhi, Dhumavati, Bhuwaneshwari Shodashi, Kamala, Matangi, Tripurbhairavi, (as the ten forms of Mahavidya) Bhadrakali, Lalita, Uma, Shuladharini, Garudagamini, Varahi, Narsimhi, Sarvamangala-all the forms of Bhavani as Shri Sharada Devi, with their 'Vahana' carriers, ornaments, Parivara-attendents and parts of the whole. May all these bestow goodness to us! I offer this Puja and Archana at the feet of Shri Sharada. My I be blessed!

Thus Shri Sharada worship and Chakra Pushparchana reaches to it conclusion.

After offering the Puja, Pushparchana and Japa, as much as one is able to do; and, offering Tarpana. The performer adept bows down to the seat of Shri Sharada and prostrates as a supplicant uttering the Mantra. He/She may recite Sharada Sahasranama for gaining/attaining further merit. (Sharada Sahasranama is given along with Nama-Vali for Pushparchana or Hawan Yajna in another chapter.)

अथ विसर्जनः Atha Visarjanaha. Now the adept performer requests the formal withdrawal of the Shri Devi as She is first invoked through 'Avahana'/Calling—'Prana Pratishta' (invoking presence as if alive in the form, symbol or pot as explained in the beginning of the Puja). Shri Devi is inovked in a limited form for a special purpose of performing Puja by the adept. It becomes necessary to request for withdrawal, according to the scriptures.

English Rendering of Visarjana

O Parmeshwari! You pervade the whole universe and I being a child come to you as a supplicant. I do not know how to invoke your presence nor do I know how to bid you farewell. You, O Mother! You are my only refuge. Your love prompts me to undertake this performance. As such, if while performing the Upasana— Puja-archana, I miss some Word, Syllable, Matrika sound or commit some mistake, pardon me for my lapses mercifully. Pray! Go to your realm from the seat of the presence that I invoked through 'Avahana' and 'Pran-pratishtha' for my Pujarchana, and go to your own Param Dhama, where Brahma and other Devas take their abode. O Parmeshwari! Prostrations are to Thy name.

After these recitations the adept puts Tilak of Vermillion, Sandal wood/saffron into the copper[1] pot with flowers and rice grains and offers water to सूर्य the Ṣun with this recitation: Obeisance to Vaivasvan, the source of effulgent light that removes darkness purifies everything on the earth and who is the witness to our deeds.

Thus with offering water to the Sun, the Puja Paddhati of Shri Saharada concludes bestowing goodness. Aum the Truth Absolute!

Reference:-1. By and large copper pots are considered the best in use for Puja Upasana in the Hindu way of Saguna worship.

About the Author

Pandit Brij Nath Tikoo was born on 20th September 1931 in Srinagar. He worked in Darmarth Trust before joining school education department in 1959 as a teacher and retired as a school lecturer in 1986.

Sri Brij Nath Ji was influenced by his grandfather Pt. Raghav Joo Tikoo right from his childhood and he considered him as his Guru. Pt. Raghav Joo was held in high esteem by the people of the area because of his saintly way of life. Sri Brij Nath Ji was also influenced by the works of his ancestor Pt. Thakur Tikoo grandfather of Pt. Raghav Joo Tikoo: who had translated Bhagwata and Mahabharata in Persian. While working in Darmarth Trust, Sh. Brij Nath Tikoo came in contact with various saints who from time to time guided him in his spiritual pursuits. He used most of his spare time in the study of scriptures while working in school education department. During his posting in Bandipora, Kashmir he took initiatives in the development of the Sharada Shrine in Kalusa Bandipora and helped in the publication of Shri Sharada Sahasranama, procuring a Dhayana picture of Shri Sharada based on Dhyana Mantra and also arranging the Murti of Shri Sharada from Jaipur, Rajasthan. Even after his transfer from Bandipore, he continued to be associated with the Sharadapeeth of Kalusa, Bandipore. Pt. Brijnath Ji was held in high esteem both by the young and old people at his various work places. People used to approach him in their hard times and he endevoured to help them in coming out from their sufferings with the aid of Jyotish Vidya.
